State Legislature Ends Labors Early This Morning

SESSION TO BE RESUMED ON JULY 17

Formality Of Recess To Be Accomplished Later In Day With Small Force

MANY BILLS KILLED

Secondary Highway Measure Speedily Approved By Upper House Solons

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 16.—(UP)—Amid scenes of confusion and mild disorder, the legislature early today concluded its labors after the most important legislative session in recent years.

Only the formality of recess remains. That will be accomplished later in the day by a skeleton force of both houses.

The legislature will return to Sacramento July 17. Its midsummer session objective will be twofold: one, to enact revenue measures to balance the budget for the forthcoming biennium; two, to pass enabling acts for the tax revision program—this assuming the electorate approves the tax revision program submitted at the June 27 special election.

The last minute bill passing rush was intensive. Many major measures—bills that had reached the threshold of passage—were killed right and left. Other important acts were approved with breathless speed.

The senate recessed at 2 a. m. The lower house, however, which had been marking time for hours waiting for the senate, suddenly became entangled in a dispute over a Catalina game fish preservation bill. It extricated itself from its deadlock at 4:40 a. m. by passing the bill.

Highway Bill

The upper house speedily approved the secondary highway bill. The measure includes approximately 6600 miles of existing and contemplated roads in the secondary state highway system.

Metropolitan opposition was quieted by giving large cities an additional quarter of a cent of the gas tax. City delegations, however, lost a fight to give boards of supervisors power to disburse the funds. An amendment seeking to remove the additional gas tax money from the control of the department of public works and place it in the hands of supervisors failed of adoption.

The upper house also approved the state employees' emergency salary reduction bill and sent it to the governor. It provides an average cut of between 11 and 12 per cent and scales up from five per cent to 25 per cent in the higher brackets. Salaries under $100 were exempt. The reductions will have $2,000,000 annually and will become automatically inoperative two years hence.

The bill sets up a state personnel board which will have full power to adjust state salaries.

A budget balancing revenue measure was law today after the governor signed a bill increasing utility taxes $3,000,000 annually. Gas and electric company tax rates were upped from 7.5 per

SAN FRANCISCO IS ROCKED BY EARTH TREMOR

Severe Shock Sends Thousands of People Rushing Into Streets

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(UP)—A strong earthquake rocked Los Angeles at 1 p. m. today.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—(UP)—The San Francisco peninsula and the surrounding area for a hundred miles was rocked by a sharp earthquake at dawn today.

The tremor occurred at 3:46 a. m. and lasted approximately 45 seconds.

No damage was reported, although the city came to life at once. Telephone service was temporarily interrupted as girls left the switchboards. Market street and other principal thoroughfares were filled with taxicabs rushing between hotels.

Intense excitement prevailed in Chinatown, where thousands of Orientals rushed into narrow Grant avenue and the cross streets of the Chinese quarter.

The milling throng was finally quieted, police headquarters reported, after the tremors halted as abruptly as they had begun.

Stockton Rocked

Stockton, 90 miles east, reported a sharp shock, as did Sacramento, 100 miles northeast.

Petaluma, 40 miles north, said the quake was severe.

Vallejo, at the north end of San Francisco bay, reported to the United Press that three separate tremors were felt.

In the Oakland office of the telephone company, all automatic clocks were stopped.

Reports indicated that the earthquake was felt most severely in the east bay section, comprising Oakland, Alameda, Hayward, Berkeley, Richmond and Martinez.

In the United Press relay at San Francisco, located on the fourth floor of a newspaper building, lighting fixtures swayed sharply through the first quake and a "following shock" but the transmission equipment did not go out of commission.

Telephones Busy

Trunk line telephones into the news agency's office were ringing furiously within two or three minutes after the last shock, as correspondents throughout the bay area called in to report the tremor.

Scores of calls were handled from persons nervous seeking information as to the scope and general severity of the quake.

State Senate Refuses To Cut Salaries

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 16.—An "economy minded" senate abruptly declined to reduce its own salaries early today.

The upper house killed a proposed constitutional amendment reducing legislators' salaries from $1200 to $900 annually.

The measure also proposed senatorial tenure of office be increased from four to six years and assemblymen from two to four.

CITY COUNCIL SETS JUNE 27 ELECTION DATE

Previous Action Of Setting Date On June 6 Is Rescinded Monday

SANTA ANA city council moved officially last night to set the date for the alcoholic liquor election here on June 27.

The council adopted a resolution rescinding previous action of the council in setting June 8 as the date of the election and gave first reading to a new ordinance fixing June 27 as the date of the election for adoption or rejection of an ordinance legalizing the sale of beer and other spirituous liquors.

The ordinance effects a consolidation of the city election with the county and state election on the same day. With Santa Ana combining with the county and state election, precincts in the city will not be consolidated, according to City Clerk E. L. Vegely.

It was brought out at the council meeting last night that the consolidation of elections will save the city of Santa Ana $1200, the only costs being around $50 for printing.

The board of supervisors this morning authorized Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton to prepare a resolution authorizing inclusion of Santa Ana's alcoholic beer proposition on the ballot to be used June 27 in voting on the 10 state problems, with the understanding that the city is to pay the additional cost of including the proposal in the election.

City Clerk Ed Vegely appeared before the board to request inclusion of the city proposition.

While the supervisors are willing to include the city proposal on the ballot definite action will have to be delayed until City Attorney Clyde Downing presents the ordinance calling the election, to the board. The council last night adopted such an ordinance and instructed Downing to present it to the supervisors today. Downing was unable to attend the board meeting this morning.

Under the law governing this special election election boards will consist of but three officials. Under the consolidation of precincts these officials would be faced with a task that would be almost impossible to accomplish it was pointed out.

WOMAN POLITICIAN OF LONDON PASSES

LONDON, May 16.—(UP)—Lady Cynthia Mosley, wife of Sir Oswald Mosley, wealthy fascist leader and herself a politician of note, died today.

Lady Cynthia Mosley was a daughter of the late Marquess of Kedleston and her presumptive heir, Baroness Ravensdale, multimillionaire colliery owner and one of the few women peers in their own right.

LEADING STOCK ISSUES SHOOT UPWARD TODAY

American Telephone Advances More Than Three Points During Day

NEW YORK, May 16.—(UP)—High grade issues in all groups resumed leadership of the stock market today. Prices gained from 1 to more than 5 points in moderately active turnover.

The market derived new strength from President Roosevelt's message urging action toward reduced armaments.

Several groups, including sugars, packing issues, and several special issues made spectacular gains. The impressive strength of such stocks as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Eastman, American Can, and Union Pacific, however, indicated return of strong investment buying and served to bring new buying into all sections of the list.

Shorts in American Telephone covered in advance of the dividend meeting scheduled for tomorrow. Telephone reached 108 1-4 up 3 1-4 points and held a large portion of the gain.

Continued influx of favorable news from the steel industry, including higher prices for pig iron and steel scrap helped U. S. Steel to cross 49, against a previous close of 47 1-2. Other steels followed, several making new tops for the year.

American Sugar led its division with a rise to new high for the year at 58 up 3 points.

Included in the list of best gainers at their highs were National Distillers 45 3-8 up 2 3-4; Real Silk Hosiery 15 3-8 up 3 5-8; Real Silk Preferred 6, up 1; United Fruit 59 7-8 up 3 5-8; U. S. Smelting 37-3-8 up 3 3-8; Air Reduction 12 1-2 up 2 3-8; Celanese Smelting 29 1-8 up 3; Crown Cork and Seal 43 7-8 up 5 3-8; and Hercules Powder 23 3-4 up 3 3-8.

Silver shares rose with silver metal when it was learned that conferences on silver were progressing. Smelting shares were strong. Coppers also met demand on firm prices.

Railroad issues were up in moderate turnover on indications that next car loadings report would show a gain.

Oil shares were in demand, notably the low prices issues. General Motors were active after a block of 10,000 shares came out at 23 1-2 up 1-2. It later reached 23 7-8.

Utilities made progress. American Electric Power, farm equipment, textiles and foods were firm.

Commodities were mixed. Grains closed down fractionally. Cotton held around the previous close. Bonds were higher in all divisions as the American dollar firmed up moderately.

Sales today totaled approximately 3,200,000 shares as against 3,150,000 shares yesterday. Curb sales were 415,000 shares as against 363,000 shares yesterday.

Information To Be Given At Hearings

Charges That Mellon Also Voided Heavy Taxes Are Being Investigated

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—J. P. Morgan's income tax returns, the United Press learned, are being studied by a senate banking committee investigator.

Returns of his partners in the great international banking firm also are being examined. It is believed likely that the information obtained will be introduced early in the committee's investigation of the bank's operations, scheduled to begin next week.

One of the purposes of the committee's general inquiry into banking and stock market practices is to turn the spotlight on loopholes in the income tax law and to devise legislation to plug them up. Chairman Norbeck recently predicted the committee's work would bring the government millions of dollars in additional taxes.

It was before this committee that Charles E. Mitchell, former head of the National City Bank, admitted selling stocks to his wife at a loss to avoid income tax payments. He now is being tried in New York on charges that the transaction was illegal.

Charges that Andrew Mellon also voided heavy taxes by selling stocks at a loss and later buying them back through a corporation controlled by his family are being studied by the justice department. Returns of other wealthy persons also are being investigated.

CALIFORNIA CIVIL WAR VETS MEETING

BERKELEY, May 16.—(UP)—California veterans of the Civil war began their business sessions today at the 65th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Some 1200 veterans and their families were here for meetings of the G. A. R. and affiliated organizations, the Women's Relief corps, ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans and the Auxiliary of the latter groups.

Elder of the delegates was Mrs. Margaret Moser Hayes of Los Angeles, who will celebrate her 100th birthday anniversary next December 11. She was a Civil war nurse.

Another distinguished visitor from Los Angeles was E. A. Speagle, 88, who bears the distinction of being a '49er, the son of a '49er and the grandson of a '49er.

S. DELEGATES TO ACCEPT RUSSIANS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—The American delegation to the world economic conference, it was learned today from a high official source, will be prepared to talk with representatives of Soviet Russia on the same basis of freedom and frankness as with envoys of any other nation.

This policy, a sharp break with custom of the last decade, envisages the actual existence of a powerful Russian state with its 160,000,000 people as a potent force in world economics, despite the fact that America does not recognize it diplomatically. The president's attitude was foreshadowed today when he directly addressed a message to the head of the Soviet state.

TAKES LEAD

President F. D. Roosevelt today called on the nations of the world to enter a solemn pact of non aggression and to support the world economic and disarmament conferences.

PLAN OFFERED BY MACDONALD FOR DISARMING

Proposal President Calls All Nations To Support Made Public

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—The MacDonald disarmament plan, which President Roosevelt summoned all nations to support today, is summarized as follows:

It first lays a basis of security through consultation. It provides that if the peace is menaced the signatories of the Kellogg Peace Pact shall be called together to consult. Any five nations, including one of the great powers, may call such a conference through the League of Nations.

Any conclusions reached by the conference must be concurred in by all the great powers and a majority of the others.

The conference are to determine what steps may be taken to prevent a breach of the peace, and, if war has already started, they are to decide which party is the aggressor.

Regarding the problem of European land armies, the MacDonald plan provides that all of them shall be reduced to the status of militia by limiting the period of enlistment to eight months. An exception is made in the case of some

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 16. (To the Editor of The Register): Is this a good tip or ain't it. No business in the U. S. is as cockeyed as the oil business (and many States depend on it for their prosperity.) If ever a business needed a dictator it is them. It would be the biggest job held by a single man outside the President. It must not be an oil man, for he is already linked with one side or the other. It's got to be a man that the whole oil industry knew was on the level, fearless, fair, seeking nothing but justice to thousands that produce oil, and millions that use it. Well, if there is a man in America that will fill this position any better than Al Smith I defy you to think of him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

EVERY NATION URGED TO ENTER SOLEMN PACT OF STRICT NON AGGRESSION

Armistice Proposal Comes On Eve Of Hitler's Anticipated Militaristic Statement To Reich

SEEKS CONFERENCE SUPPORT

BULLETIN
ROME, May 16.—(UP)—Italy will accept President Roosevelt's world peace proposal unconditionally, it was said on high authority tonight.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—President Roosevelt seized the leadership of a war-threatened world today and in a message cabled direct to rulers of 55 countries summoned all nations to pledge themselves to send no armed forces whatsoever across their frontiers.

He warned that if any strong nation refuses, the civilized world will know where to place the blame.

"I urge that no nation assume such a responsibility," he said.

Raising his powerful voice above the rumbling war drums of Europe, the president sent his sharp imperative call for peace in the form of an open uncoded message addressed to all the sovereigns of the world and through them to their respective peoples.

As a first step, President Roosevelt urged the nations to accept the disarmament plan proposed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald at the world disarmament conference.

That would reduce offensive weapons and set up a system of consultation to bring the powers together when peace is menaced.

While this is being done, he proposed that no country should increase its existing armaments.

Then came his emergency armistice proposal in the following words:

Solemn Pact Urged

"That all the nations of the world should enter into a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression; that they should solemnly reaffirm the obligation they have assumed to limit and reduce their armaments; and, provided these obligations are faithfully executed by all signatory powers, individually agree that they will send no armed forces of whatsoever nature across their frontiers."

"Common sense points out that if any strong nation refuses to join with genuine sincerity in these concerted efforts for political and economic peace, the one at Geneva and the other at London, progress can be obstructed and ultimately blocked."

"In such event the civilized world, seeking both forms of peace, will know where the responsibility for failure lies."

The message was addressed to 55 sovereigns including Russia. The message to Russia was addressed to "President Michael Kalinin, All Union Central Executive Committee, Moscow, Russia." This is the first time an American has addressed a message to the nations in "everyday English," a White House aide said. Such communications usually are transmitted in diplomatic code.

In sending the document over its conclusions quickly. The world can not await deliberations long drawn out. The conference must establish order in place of the present chaos by a stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade, and by international action to raise price levels. It must, in short, supplement individual domestic programs for economic recovery, by wise and considered international action.

Confused Purposes

"The disarmament conference has labored for more than a year and, as yet, has been unable to reach satisfactory conclusions. Confused purposes still clash dangerously. Our duty lies in the direction of bringing practical results through concerted action, to the greatest good in the greatest number. Before the imperative call of this great duty, petty obstacles must be swept away and petty aims forgotten."

MESSAGE GIVEN REPORTERS IN SIMPLEST WAY

Roosevelt Asleep As Newspapermen Informed Of Momentous Move

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—There was strange contrast between the historic making world utterance of President Roosevelt today and the simple way in which it was made known to the world.

At 8 a. m., with a cold rain falling from heavy skies, a handful of newspaper correspondents, went to the executive office in answer to a summons from Stephen T. Early, White House press secretary. President Roosevelt still was in bed. In the executive office no one was around.

Early opened a desk drawer and handed each several mimeographed sheets.

"That is for release at 10 a. m. E.S.T.," he said. "It is a message addressed to the sovereigns of the world."

The reporters left and soon thereafter one of the most important utterances of the period was being broadcast by cable and radio over the world.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S CALL FOR NON AGGRESSION PACT

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(UP)—President Roosevelt cabled to all the rulers today uncoded the following message:

"A profound hope of the people of my country impels me, as the head of their government, to address you and, through you, the people of your nation. This hope is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos."

"To these ends the nations have called two great world conferences. The happiness, the prosperity, and the very lives of the men, women and children who inhabit the whole world are bound up in the decisions which their governments will make in the near future. The improvement of social conditions, the preservation of individual human rights, and the furtherance of social justice are dependent upon these decisions."

"The world economic conference will meet soon and must come to nations, which would be permitted to enlist soldiers for 12 months. This would strike a blow at the professional armies of Europe. Under terms of the Versailles treaty, for instance, German soldiers must be enlisted for 12 years.

The plan would eliminate large scale guns used in an offensive. Future heavy artillery would be limited to 165-MM., although countries would be allowed to keep guns up to 165-MM., if already in their possession.

Coast defense guns, not being offensive weapons, may be larger, up to 16-inches, the size used by the United States.

Tanks would be limited to 16 tons, MacDonal proposed that France and Italy reduce their navies by signing the London naval treaty.

the senate banking committee, is making every effort to gather all necessary data from the Morgan bank's records in New York in time for the committee hearings to begin May 23, as scheduled. There is a possibility, however, that they may be delayed.

Meantime the Morgan bank is in the center of a bitter controversy with Rockefeller interests over the banking reform bill which Senator Glass, Dem., Va., planned to lay before the senate today.

A provision of this bill would compel private banks such as the House of Morgan to give up their deposit business if they wished to continue to handle securities, their most lucrative business. Commercial banks at the same time would be forced to divorce themselves from security affiliates. The Rockefeller-controlled Chase National bank already has given up its securities business and is backing the provision which would allot one sphere of banking to each type of institution and keep deposit business in the hands of banks that are under government regulation.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S CALL FOR NON AGGRESSION PACT

selfish victory is always destined to be an ultimate defeat. The furtherance of durable peace for our generation in every part of the world is the only goal worthy of our best efforts.

"If we ask what are the reasons for armaments, which, in spite of the lessons and tragedies of the World war, are today a greater burden on the peoples of the earth than ever before, it becomes clear that they are twofold: First, the desire, disclosed or hidden, on the part of governments to enlarge their territories at the expense of a sister nation. I believe that only a small minority of governments or of peoples harbor such a purpose. Second, the fear of nations that they will be invaded. I believe that the overwhelming majority of peoples feel obliged to retain excessive armaments because they fear some act of aggression against them and not because they themselves seek to be aggressors.

Fear Justified
"There is justification for this fear. Modern weapons of offense are vastly stronger than modern weapons of defense. Frontier forts, trenches, wire entanglements, coast defenses—in a word, fixed fortifications—are no longer impregnable to the attack of war planes, heavy mobile artillery, land battleships called tanks, and poison gas.

"If all nations will agree wholly to eliminate from possession and use the weapons which make possible a successful attack, defenses automatically will become impregnable, and the frontiers and independence of every nation will become secure.

"The ultimate objective of the disarmament conference must be the complete elimination of all offensive weapons. The immediate objective is a substantial reduction of some of these weapons and the elimination of many others.

"This government believes that the program for immediate reduction of aggressive weapons, now under discussion at Geneva, is but a first step toward our ultimate goal. We do not believe that the proposed immediate steps go far enough. Nevertheless, this government welcomes the measures now proposed and will exert its influence toward the attainment of further successive steps of disarmament.

"Stated in the clearest way, there are three steps to be agreed upon in the present discussion:

Initial Step
"First, to take, at once, the first definite step toward this objective, as broadly outlined in the MacDonal plan.

"Second, to agree upon time and procedure for taking the following steps.

"Third, to agree that while the first and the following steps are being taken, no nation shall increase its existing armaments over and above the limitations of treaty obligations.

"But the peace of the world must be assured during the whole period of disarmament and I, therefore, propose a fourth step concurrent with and wholly dependent on the faithful fulfillment of these three proposals and subject to existing treaty rights:

"That all the nations of the world should enter into a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression; that they should solemnly reaffirm the obligations they have assumed to limit and reduce their armaments, and provided these obligations are faithfully executed by all signatory powers, individually agree that they will send no armed force of whatever nature across their frontiers.

"Common sense points out that if any strong nation refuses to join with genuine sincerity in these concerted efforts for political and economic peace, the one at Geneva and the other at London, progress can be obstructed and ultimately blocked. In such event the civilized world, seeking both forms of peace, will know where the responsibility for failure lies. I urge that no nation assume such a responsibility, and that all the nations joined in these great conferences translate their professed policies into action. This is the way of political and economic peace.

"I trust that your government will join in the fulfillment of these hopes."

"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The messages was addressed to the following nations: Albania, Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Colombia, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Chile, Costa Rica, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Ecuador, Egypt, Estonia, Ethiopia, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Hungary, Honduras, Iraq, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Persia, Poland, Peru, Portugal, Rumania, Russia, Santo Domingo, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO FILM ACTRESS

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(UP)

Claudia Morgan, blonde young motion picture actress, today won a divorce from Talbot Cummings, New York socialite, on her complaint that he used abusive language and drank too much.

Miss Morgan, daughter of Ralph Morgan, also well known on the stage and screen, told Superior Judge Edwin F. Hahn that when she and Cummings were living in New York and she was ill in bed, he came home intoxicated and began using such abusive language that she became hysterical.

EVERY NATION IS URGED TO ENTER SOLEMN PACT BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

president has communicated directly with the soviet government. It was taken to be significant of the president's desire to mobilize the entire world in his gigantic drive for peace.

It was thought destined to be a historic utterance—notice to the world that the United States has assumed her share of responsibility in the strife torn family of nations.

No direct mention of Germany was made. But the utterance was timed on the eve of Chancellor Hitler's statement to the Reichstag tomorrow which the world is awaiting with tense apprehension lest it reopen the issue which threw the world into the most deadly war of history nearly 20 years ago.

Urgent Appeal
His message was an appeal for the success of both the world economic conference and the Geneva disarmament conference. With such high hopes of recovery hanging on the economic conference, Mr. Roosevelt saw it menaced by the tense feeling between Germany and her old enemies.

For the first time in history, so far as observers here recalled, the president of the United States directly addressed the rulers of the entire world and pleaded with them for common action to save civilization. Mr. Roosevelt did so in the "profound hope" that they would answer his call.

The president called attention to the conferences for disarmament and economic restoration, the one now meeting at Geneva, the other soon to convene at London.

"The happiness, the prosperity, and the very lives of the men, women and children who inhabit the whole world are bound up in the decisions which their governments will make in the near future," he warned.

Recalling the failure of the disarmament conference to achieve anything in its 18 months of bickering, Mr. Roosevelt warned:

"Confused policies still clash dangerously. Our duty lies in the direction of bringing practical results through concerted action based upon the greatest good to the greatest number."

"Before the imperative call of this great duty," he said, "petty obstacles must be swept away and petty aims forgotten."

Nations arm for two reasons, Mr. Roosevelt said. A few wish to gain the territories of their neighbors. But the great majority arm because they are afraid of invasion.

"There is justification for this fear," he said. "Modern weapons of offense are vastly stronger than modern weapons of defense."

"If all nations will agree wholly to eliminate from possession and use the weapons which make possible a successful attack, defenses automatically will become impregnable and the frontiers and independence of every nation will become secure."

Mr. Roosevelt said the ultimate object of the disarmament conference was to eliminate all offensive weapons. But pending that future goal, he proposed the immediate reduction of some of these weapons and the elimination of "many others."

Outline Program
The president then outlined this sweeping program:

1. To take, at once, the first definite step toward this objective, as broadly outlined in the MacDonal plan.

2. To agree upon a time and procedure for taking the following steps:

3. To agree that while the first and following steps are being taken, no nation shall increase its existing armaments over and above the limitations of treaty obligations.

"But the peace of the world," he added, "must be assured during the whole period of disarmament and I, therefore, propose a fourth step concurrent with and wholly dependent upon the faithful fulfillment of these three proposals and subject to existing treaty rights:

"That all the nations of the world should enter into a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression; that they should solemnly reaffirm the obligations they have assumed to limit and reduce their armaments, and provided these obligations are faithfully executed by all signatory powers, individually agree that they will send no armed force of whatever nature across their frontiers."

A single strong nation, the president pointed out, may wreck this program, and added significantly: "I urge that no nation assume such a responsibility, and that all the nations joined in these great conferences (disarmament and economic) translate their professed policies into action."

Way to Peace
"This," he said, "is the way to political and economic peace."

"I trust that your government will join in the fulfillment of these hopes."

Today marks the second time within a year that an American president has thrown the weight of the United States suddenly and dramatically behind an effort to rescue the flagging disarmament conference.

Almost exactly a year ago, President Hoover, without warning, sent the disarmament conference a proposal for the reduction of armaments by one-third.

Italy accepted at once and other powers indicated a willingness to study the plan. But it perished in the maze of committees and talks at Geneva.

Mr. Roosevelt's action in the disarmament up here was, as it has been in domestic matters, dramatic and precedent shattering. Instead of making his proposal directly to the disarmament conference, the routine way, he appealed over the heads of the Geneva diplomats directly to the rulers of the world.

Message to Congress
He followed this appeal with a message to congress cast in sharper words.

He transmitted the text of his world appeal to congress for its information and added:

"The way to disarm is to disarm. The way to make it impossible is to make it impossible. In two history-making utterances, one to the world, and one to the American congress, Mr. Roosevelt seized the leadership in a war-threatening crisis. His action was intended to mobilize the terrific impact of world opinion against those who for selfish ends would plunge everyone over another precipice.

Significantly he struck his mighty blows on the eve of the speech which Chancellor Hitler is to make tomorrow to the German Reichstag. That utterance is awaited with bated breath lest it open a breach that cannot be healed without bloodshed.

"I was impelled to this action," Mr. Roosevelt told congress, "because it has become increasingly evident that the assurance of world political and economic peace and stability is threatened by selfish and shortsighted policies, actions and threats of actions."

"The sincere wish for this assurance by an overwhelming majority of the nations faces the danger of recalcitrant obstruction by a very small minority, just as in the domestic field the good purposes of a majority in business, labor or in other cooperative efforts are often frustrated by a selfish few."

Transmitting this message to congress, Mr. Roosevelt laid heavy emphasis on his desire that all nations join in carrying out the purposes of the MacDonal disarmament plan. It provides essentially for reduction and eventually elimination of aggressive weapons of warfare.

President Roosevelt believes the menace of war can be removed if fear of attack is removed.

"It is high time for us and for every other nation to understand the simple fact that the invasion of any nation, or the destruction of a national sovereignty, can be prevented only by the complete elimination of the weapons that make such a course possible today," Mr. Roosevelt told congress.

"Such an elimination will make the little nations relatively more secure against the great nation."

President Roosevelt was immediately deluged with congratulations from all parts of the world. Members of both parties in congress showered praise upon him for his swift and forceful action in stepping into a world crisis as dark in its foreboding as that on the hot summer night of 1914 when the world teetered in such a situation and then plunged headlong into war.

BOLIVIA AGREES TO ARBITRATE DISPUTE
GENEVA, May 16.—(UP)—Bolivia agreed to arbitrate its dispute with Uruguay, in a cable received by the League of Nations today.

Officials believed the acceptance foreshadowed imminent cessation of hostilities in the Gran Chaco where opposing troops have been engaged in unofficial war since June. Paraguay declared a state of war to exist last week.

Paraguay accepted arbitration yesterday.

Bolivian Foreign Minister Demetrio Canelas cabled the League that Bolivia was willing to arbitrate on a basis of consideration of the viewpoint of each adversary.

Bill Is Killed
Senator W. P. Rich killed a bill amending the architecture act when he pointed out it would compel any person erecting a structure costing over $7500 to hire an architect.

Speedy senate approval was also given a spread-work bill providing a 30-hour work week on all public works projects save federal jobs in California.

Other last minute action included: Adoption of a resolution requesting congress to pass a bill limiting federal jurisdiction of railroad commission utility rate decisions—this to obviate prolonged delay.

Approval of a constitutional amendment providing cities and counties may cooperate in completion of public works projects. Superior judges in Contra Costa county reduced from $8000 to $7000; in Santa Clara from $7000 to $6500. Santa Clara county's sealer of weights and measures and agricultural commissioner were cut 15 per cent.

Last bill passed was the Catalina island fish bill. This measure tied up the assembly, on the verge of recess, for three hours. It provided for limitation of commercial fishing in the vicinity of Catalina island and was opposed by a minority bloc which charged the measure would "legislate commercial fishermen into the unemployment class."

The legislative scene has moved from the senate and assembly to the governor's office. The chief executive is faced with the monumental task during the next 30 days of considering over 1000 bills passed by the legislature.

survey, at Watsonville, approximately 90 miles away.

The city of Gilroy, 80 miles south, reported the tremor as severe. It was less so at Watsonville, while farther south it was not felt at all. Fresno, in the San Joaquin valley 80 miles southeast, escaped the tremor, as did Eureka, in extreme northwestern California. Marysville, 150 miles northeast in the center of the Sacramento valley, reported the quake, which was also felt in the capital city itself.

No disturbance was reported from the sea, a check of the coast guard station and the Radio Corporation of America revealed.

A circle of about 200 miles from San Francisco Bay, with the city itself a little southward of the true center, seemed to rim the earthquake area.

UNEMPLOYED IN SEARCH OF NEW HEADQUARTERS

Negotiations are under way between the Santa Ana board of education and the Santa Ana Unemployed association for permitting the latter to occupy the old shop building on Church street when the city of Santa Ana takes over the old Willard school building on North Main street, inquiries revealed today.

At the present the unemployed group is using the old Willard school building, which, as a result of its sale to the city, must be vacated in the near future for remodeling into city offices.

Further inquiries disclosed that some of the school board members have adopted a questioning attitude in the matter of granting the further use of buildings under their supervision to the unemployed. While the spokesmen of the unemployed admitted that their negotiations with the school trustees for use of the old shop

Council Refers Business Permits To Planning Body

The city council received several applications to conduct business last night, one of which was refused and the rest of which were referred to the city planning commission for a recommendation at the next council meeting.

Betty Rose Coleman asked for permission to operate a dress-making shop at 192 North Flower street. Emory Lambert sought permission to conduct a garage at 517 West Seventeenth street. Harry E. Rinehart asked for a permit to operate a hothouse at 415 East First street. All were referred to the planning commission.

Permission to operate a pool hall at 903 East Fourth street was refused on recommendation of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard. Jesus Velarde sought the permit.

Building have so far failed to bring any definite results, they were hopeful that their request would receive favorable consideration at the hands of the school authorities.

WIDENING OF ROSS STREET IS OPPOSED

Protesting the establishment of five-foot set back lines on both sides of North Ross street from First to Fifth street, a petition signed by eight property owners representing 583 feet of property, was presented to the city council last night.

The petition asked the council to stop proceedings to widen the street, saying the action would be unnecessary and expensive. On May 1 the council adopted a resolution of intention in regard to the matter and last night was the time set for hearing.

In the original petition asking for the set back lines there was 375 feet of property represented. There is a total footage of about 280 feet excluding city owned park footage.

The hearing was continued for one week in a motion adopted unanimously.

Charles Walker who owns property at the southwest corner of Fourth and Ross, appeared before the council to ask that the proceedings continue, declaring that all property along the street would be improved and benefited. He wanted action, he said, so that the new building on the northeast corner of Fourth and Ross street, to be erected by Fred Avis, would be set back, affording more street space.

Walker said property owners representing 625 feet of property between Third and Fifth streets, wanted the set back.

COUNCIL APPOINTS PLAYGROUND GROUP

Preparatory to the operation of the city playgrounds this summer, the city council last night announced the appointment of a playground committee to take charge of the grounds this year.

The committee includes E. Z. McKinney, Leon Lauderback, W. W. Welman, Thelma Patton and Mrs. Roy Horton. The committee is expected to hold a meeting in the near future and work out a program for the summer months.

Council Promises Action Next Week On Radio Measure

Action on the proposed radio interference ordinance was again postponed by the city council at its meeting last night, although a decision was reached to take definite action at the session next week. The delay was permitted in order to allow Attorney Franklin West to contact clients he represents who were opposed to the original draft of the measure, which has since been altered.

The ordinance would make it mandatory for any person operating any device which causes disturbances in radio sets to install filters and screens to stop the noise at its source, provided the radio receiver is properly equipped to eliminate as much of the interference as possible with the proper type antennae and ground systems.

AGREEMENT ON TAXI PROBLEMS ANTICIPATED

A favorable reaction on the proposal to establish uniform taxi cab fare zones in Santa Ana from C. F. Eddleman, owner of the Courtsey Cab line was reported to the city council last night by Otto Jacobs, attorney.

Jacobs said that Eddleman told him he would favor the zoning scheme and would be glad of legitimate competition. Jacobs is attorney for the Home Taxi Cab company.

It is believed that should taxi companies operating in the city agree on the fare zoning plan that the city council would let down the bars and issue licenses to several cab companies. The only legitimate license held at the present time is by the Courtsey Cab company.

The council took no action on the matter.

PERMISSION GIVEN TO SELL PROPERTY

In furtherance of the deal in progress between the city of Santa Ana and the board of education to exchange the city property at Third and Main streets for the school property at Tenth and Main streets, the city council last night adopted a resolution permitting the school board to sell the North Main street property and purchase the old city hall site.

City Attorney Clyde Downing who presented the matter, explained that it is necessary for the board of education to have permission of the city council to consummate the deal. It is planned to locate the city hall in the old Willard school building on the North Main street property.

BUS OPERATOR'S TRIAL POSTPONED

Trial of C. H. Eckles, Whittier bus man who operates a bus system in Santa Ana, on a charge of violation of a city ordinance by failure to pay the city business license fees has been postponed until Thursday at 10 a. m. it was learned today.

The trial was originally set for today when Eckles pleaded not guilty to the charge brought against him last week. The case will be tried in the Santa Ana police court before Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Eckles is said to owe the city now some $357 in back license fees which have not been paid. He was brought into court last week with other merchants who were delinquent in their licenses.

SUGGEST PLAN FOR SAVINGS ON STREET LIGHTS

Plans for effecting a considerable saving to the city of Santa Ana by slashing costs of electricity in supplying the ornamental light system in the north part of town were told to the city council last night by City Engineer J. L. McBride.

The program contemplated would include the substitution of one globe on ornamental light posts on North Main street from Sixth street to the city limits instead of the three globes now in use.

McBride told members of the city council that more light could be given off by the use of the one globe on top of the poles than there is now with the three globes which hang below.

The change planned will be given a trial through one post which will be fitted in the manner announced. McBride said less electricity would be used and a considerable saving effected through less breakage of globes under the new plan.

McBride said the circuit described costs the city of Santa Ana as much as the rest of the circuits put together. He also pointed out that the city had saved $4000 last year by similar economies which have caused no inconvenience.

Four Requests For Liquor Permits Filed With Council

Four more requests for permits to sell alcoholic liquor in Santa Ana should it be authorized, were received by the city council last night. The council ordered the requests received and filed.

Persons seeking permission to sell the alcoholic beverages were A. H. Temple, 1901 West Fifth street; George A. Demetriou, 320 East Fourth street; R. E. Evans, 316 East Fifth street and the Son-Tax Drug company, Ltd., by Louise McCain.

This makes a total of 20 applications filed for permission to sell the alcoholic beverages.

Council Notes

A contract for taking charge of the city dump for the ensuing six months which grants salvage privileges was awarded to Thomas Johnson last night by the city council. Johnson paid the city $25 a month in advance for the contract.

The Aereo Advertising Corporation of America was refused permission to send down a number of miniature gliders over the city of Santa Ana in an advertising scheme last night by the city council. It was pointed out that a city ordinance prohibits such advertising.

Former Resident Of Orange Dies

Burial services for Mrs. Oro Corbin Wickman, widow of the late Dr. H. T. Wickman, of Orange, who passed away last Saturday at Yuma, Ariz., will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Fairhaven cemetery. It was announced today by the C. W. Coffey Funeral parlor, Orange, in charge of the arrangements.

The deceased was a resident of Orange for a number of years, having resided there several years following the death of her husband, which occurred in 1919. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Anita Wickman, attending the Southern branch of the University of California in Los Angeles, and Miss Jean Wickman, residing in Arizona. The body is being brought here for burial beside the remains of her husband.

BOARD DENIES AID TO GROUP FROM LAGUNA

Requests that the board of supervisors come to the financial aid of Acquisition and Improvement District No. 3 in Laguna Beach were denied this morning when a delegation of property owners in the district appeared to make the request.

The district was formed for the acquisition and paving of Sleepy Hollow Lane, a 1200-foot strip of land in the beach city, under the Mattoon Act. According to Claud Hollick, spokesman for the delegation, the district is insolvent and cannot function without help.

He said that the total bond issue of the district is $54,000 and assessed valuation of their property in the district is $34,000.

In denying aid to the district the board through Chairman Willard Smith pointed out to Hollick that similar requests from the City of Santa Ana had been denied last year and that in justice to all communities such aid could not be extended Laguna Beach. It was also pointed out that should county funds be expended for relief of the district under the Mattoon Act each supervisor would be individually responsible under his personal bond.

Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, read the statute which provided that relief could be extended under such circumstances only by the governing body, either city or county, which conducted the proceedings under which the district was formed. Acquisition and Improvement District No. 3, he pointed out, was formed under proceedings conducted by the city. Hollick contended that the county is responsible inasmuch as it collects taxes and assessments for the City of Laguna Beach.

Sanders Funeral Set For Wednesday

Bouquets of Cecil Bruner roses centered the dining table and were artistically arranged throughout the rooms. Following dinner jigsaw puzzles were introduced as the evening's diversion. Those present, other than the hosts, were Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ware, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cummings and three sons, Charles, James and Melvin Lee, all of Irvine.

SAYS MOTHER IS SWEETHEART OF HUMANITY

Speaking at the First Methodist church Sunday morning Dr. George A. Warner used as his subject for a Mother's day sermon "The Sweetheart of Humanity." He said in part:

"There is a mother virtue. From it all virtue comes or else is thereto related. This virtue springs from the heart of God. Said the Apostle John 'God is love.'"

"A Jewish proverb records, 'God could not be everywhere so he made mothers.' Mothers are the finest incarnation of the virtue of love that we have on the human plane. They are the sweethearts of humanity. Three things make a sweetheart. Mutual attractiveness, mutual winsomeness, and willingness to be transformed. Said Abraham Lincoln, 'All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother.' Said Thomas Edison, 'My mother made me. She was so true, so fair, so expectant, I could not disappoint her.' Motherhood is not everybody's business. Some who have had the physical experience lack spiritual vision. There are those who have never had the chance at actual motherhood who have spiritually helped to make the race.

"Three principles must operate for motherhood to be successful. First—There is no abundant life without teaching. Priscilla Leonard drives at the heart of this fundamental teaching with: 'Alma Mater'.

The oldest university. Was not on India's strand, Nor in the valley of the Nile, Nor on Arabia's sand; From time's beginning it has taught.

And still it teaches free, Its learning, mild, to every child—The school of Mother's Knee.

The oldest—and the newest, too—It still maintains its place, And from its classes, ever full, It graduates the race, Without its teaching, where would all

The best of living be? 'Twas planned by Heaven, this earth to heaven.

The School of Mother's Knee.

"Second—There is no great teaching without worthy example. A newspaper carried in its corner 'Remember This,' 'Children do as their parents do, not as they say.' Susanna Wesley, Abigail Adams, Phoebe Carey, Frances Willard were all exemplars of what they taught.

"Third—There is no creative example without love. The great Tolstoy one time wrote an essay from the subject 'Where Love is, There God is.' As the Apostle Paul puts this virtue through the prism of his own mind and analyzed it into its component parts, in order that he might understand it, he came to one conclusion that should forever encourage the race, 'Love never faileth. Love is creative, dynamic, rewarding.'"

SMELTZER, May 16. — Mrs. Martin, mother of Floyd Michl, and a friend, Mrs. Burney, of Los Angeles, are visiting in the Michl home in the absence of Mrs. Michl, who is in Stockton attending the Rebekah assembly.

OCCUPANT OF CAR DIES OF CRASH HURTS

Funeral services for Clifford D. Conklin, 28, former Santa Ana resident and graduate of Santa Ana high school, who died yesterday at the Ramona hospital, San Bernardino, as a result of an automobile accident Saturday night in that city, will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Church of the Brethren, La Verne. It was announced today. Todd and Reeves, funeral directors, Pomona, in charge of the arrangements, added that burial will be made at Valhalla.

Boyd H. Sleeper, former county fire marshal, now employed as investigator for the National Board of Underwriters, driver of the car in which Conklin was a passenger, is at St. Joseph's hospital, recovering from injuries received in the wreck. According to reports, the car, occupied by Conklin and Sleeper, collided with one driven by Floyd Peterson, of Pasadena.

Conklin was well known in Santa Ana, having held different positions here since graduating from the high school. For the past few years he has been connected with the Shell Oil company, and was stationed here until transferred to Barstow.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Conklin, 202 South Main, this city; a brother, Robert Conklin, connected with the Automobile Club of Southern California; and a wife and son.

NOTE BANDIT TO BE RETURNED FOR TRIAL

William C. Green, alleged "note bandit" who robbed three Safeway stores in Orange county, will be brought here to face trial. This word was brought here by Deputy Sheriff E. E. Perry from Captain Norris Stensland of the Los Angeles sheriff's office robbery detail.

Green, who was caught in the act of holding up a Safeway store in Glendale Saturday, will be prosecuted here on charges of holding up the Orange and Anaheim Safeway stores. He also held up the Santa Ana store, but there has been no warrant issued

THURSDAY IS LAST DAY TO PICK DELEGATE

County Clerk J. M. Backs announced today that Thursday is the final date for filing nominating petitions for candidates to the state convention to pass on repeal or retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is also the final day in which citizens may register to vote at the state and city election on June 27.

Nomination of candidates to the convention is to be made by petitions taking the place of a primary election. The signed petitions must be in the hands of the registrar of voters or county clerk 40 days before June 27 and in the hands of the secretary of state 35 days before the special June 27 election.

The state convention will consist of 22 delegates, one from each of the 20 Congressional districts and two at large. Two repealer and two anti-repealer candidates having the largest number of signatures on their petitions will be the candidates at large.

In each Congressional district the repealer candidate with the largest number of names on his petition and the anti-repealer candidate with the largest number will go on the ballot; they will be nominated by districts, but the voting on the nominees from the 20 districts will be state-wide.

Hamilton H. Cotton, of San Clemente, who is seeking nomination as a delegate to the state convention, is running as a delegate at large, rather than as a delegate from the nineteenth congressional district, as reported in error yesterday.

RETURN HOME

BARBER CITY, May 16.—Homer W. Hilborn and son, Willard Hilborn, have returned from 10 days spent on Bullion mountain, in San Bernardino county.

Friends of Leo Farrar will be glad to know that he is now sufficiently recovered from an attack of pneumonia to be about the house.

From Santa Ana yet, Deputy Sheriff Perry said.

Green is said to have admitted the robberies in Orange county. He is known as the "note bandit" because in each case he would hand the victim a note telling him he was being held up and if he failed to hand over money the bandit would blow his head off.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 16.—(UP)—Political history was made during the legislature's closing week. Concerted attack of the Inman investigating committee against "Sunny Jim" Rolph, California's governor, has no precedent in California—nor is it likely anything comparable to it will occur in future years.

Never has a California governor been so mercilessly upbraided on the floor of the legislature. For two hours, sent up indignation of Senators W. P. Rich, J. M. Inman and Herbert Jones poured out in bitter words, astounding revelations and round phrases of condemnation. The outburst was inspired by Governor Rolph's tardy reply to the Inman committee's three reports on his administration.

Most striking angle was that not one voice—not even the administration's floor leader, Senator Will Sharkey—was raised in defense of the executive. The inference is inescapable. The executive hasn't a friend in the senate. That, in itself, is unprecedented.

Irrespective of Inman's statement to the contrary and the governor's staunch defense of his finance director, the report is current Vandegrift will resign, he removed or transferred after adjournment of the legislature's mid-summer session. Fact is, there will never be harmony in the Rolph cabinet until Vandegrift goes. Constitutional and appointive officers frankly dislike him. That was painfully apparent at a secret conference of these officials with Governor Rolph. Vandegrift had suggested topping off $2,500,000 from the $247,000,000 budget by effecting additional departmental economies. His proposal infuriated all officials whose departments were effected. In the presence of the governor they gave the finance director one of the worst tongue lashings ever heard in the executive offices. The breach between Vandegrift and virtually all other state officials is too wide to bridge.

CALL OFF EXAMS

WESTMINSTER May 16.—Plans for the pre-school age examination have been given up in so far as the examination of these children at a set time is concerned and Dr. Russell I. Johnson, local physician, who is to make the examination, will take them at any time convenient for the parents. The change was made when a check showed that many children eligible for the examination were ill.

REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION OF WOMAN'S CLUB

ORANGE, May 16.—Activities through which members of the Orange Woman's club have accomplished much of value and interest during the past several months were reviewed yesterday afternoon at the business session of the organization, when section leaders and committee chairmen gave annual reports. This interval preceded the program.

Mrs. Donald Smiley, first vice president, presided, in the absence of Mrs. Earl Crawford, president. Plans for two parties to be given this month were made known, the first to be held on the afternoon of May 23 at the clubhouse, with members of the First and Third Household Economics section as guests. This will be a plunkett luncheon.

Mrs. Alma Coffey, finance chairman, announced that a group of benefit card parties under the auspices of the club will be given Friday evening, May 26, in the homes of various club members, each hostess selecting her group of guests. All of the participants will gather at the clubhouse at the close of play, with prizes to be awarded and refreshments to be served at this time.

Mrs. Donald Smiley reported on the recent state convention of Women's clubs held in San Francisco; Mrs. Walter Pixley, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ross Harlan, recording secretary and Mrs. E. H. Smith, treasurer, gave their reports.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. Fred Alden, welfare; Mrs. Ernest Ross, friendship; Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, ways and means; Mrs. William J. Sutherland, membership, who stated that 21 new members have joined this year; Mrs. Christine Lambert, music; Mrs. Arch Burkett, health clinic; Mrs. George Seba, decorations; Mrs. Clyde Watson, civics; Mrs. C. F. Short, hostess; Mrs. J. T. Melms, program and year book. A few reports are to be completed at the club's next meeting.

A generous sum of money was presented to the club by the various sections. Section reports were given by Mrs. C. W. Coffey, First Household Economics; Mrs. J. T. Melms, Second Household Economics; Mrs. H. C. Heuck, Third Household Economics; Mrs. Arch Burkett, Toastmasters; Mrs. Alfred Halleck, Garden section; Miss Sue Scarriff, chorus; Mrs. Anderson, Travel; Mrs. George Peterson, Book Review; Mrs. Alden, curator, gave her report.

NOW SCIENTISTS EXPLAIN

...precious elements Nature puts in skin to keep it youthful are actually in this soap

The gradual loss of these elements makes skin old-looking, dry, unattractive. Lux Toilet Soap is an unquestionable aid in keeping skin young-looking, softly smooth... scientist tells stars

Wonderfully soft, smooth skin—this charm is every woman's birthright! For nature has given to skin of every type—to young skin, too—precious elements that keep it young, softly smooth.

Then why does skin grow dull and drab—old before its time? You've probably often wondered. And now scientists explain...

The Secret of Youthful Skin
Skin, science has found, contains certain precious elements. These elements, found in youthful skin of every type, keep it fresh, smooth, attractive, young... help guard it when exposed to wind, dust and sun.

The gradual loss of these elements is what makes skin get old looking, dry, rough, unattractive. But scientists give this welcome and all-important message—you can now check the loss of these precious elements.

This Soap actually contains Precious Elements found in skin itself

Now scientists attest the fact that Lux Toilet Soap, with its complete freedom from harshness, its ready solubility and its content of precious elements is an unquestionable aid in keeping the skin young looking... softly smooth.

Small wonder that Lux Toilet Soap is used by the screen stars, and has been for years. 686 of the 694 important Hollywood actresses are enthusiastic in their praise. And women everywhere have been proving for themselves that this fine soap actually keeps skin fresher—younger—more attractive.

The lovely screen stars must have radiant, youthful skin. Small wonder that this fragrant, white soap has been made the official soap in all the large film studios.

A Younger Looking YOU

SCIENCE tells you that pure, safe Lux Toilet Soap actually contains precious elements all in the skin itself—an abundance in fresh, youthful skin, less in skin that is growing old, unlovely.

HOLLYWOOD has proved through years of daily use this soap actually keeps every type of skin younger looking.

MILLIONS of women (and men) everywhere confirm Hollywood's experience.

Won't YOU prove the beautifying effect this fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap can have on your skin?

"I found out the secret of keeping my skin young looking," says Mrs. J. I. Potter, of Montclair, New Jersey

"I found out the secret of keeping my skin young looking—simply by using the same care for my skin that the Hollywood stars use... Lux Toilet Soap. I've been using this nice soap for a long time. From the very beginning my skin took on a new freshness and became wonderfully improved."

OLIVE CONCEDED EDGE OVER SANTA ANA STARS

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Moe Berg, who speaks many languages besides catching for the Washington club, says that stories about college stars as Barry Wood—making the subjects appear to be swell athletes—imply that most college athletes never looked into a Gowdy grammar. . . . Ed-Ed Flynn, the Loyola of New Orleans pug who won the Olympic title, prefers becoming a dentist . . . but whether he figures he can inflict more punishment by pulling teeth than knocking them out remains a mystery in this corner. . . . Lou Gehrig has a prize winning Shepherd dog, like a fisherman and has taken up golf. . . . H. G. Salsinger, the Detroit scribe, confides that the trouble with most baseball teams is that they leave too many of their own runners on the bases and not enough of the opposing team's.

MAKING IT SNAPPY

Clark Shaughnessy, successor to Stagg as coach of the Midway Maroons, says he would rather have his boys deviate from orthodox football and perhaps make an occasional mistake than to have them follow routine always. . . . but that's what those Chicago kids did under Stagg. . . . and that's what the White Sox have been doing for Mister Fonseca, making it appear a quaint old South Side custom.

DEMPESEY IS IDOL

Time and again during the tour of Max Schmeling and Jack Dempsey, the German smacker has been observed in respectful attitude toward the Old Mauler. . . . it's like this. . . . eight years or more ago, when Schmeling was a young man trying to get along, he hitched his wagon to the star that was Dempsey. . . . boyhood idols persist.

MONOPOLY OF STARS

The Newark farm of the New York Yankees is a major league ball club. . . . this year, with the second division sisters struggling for ball players, the Yankees shipped to Jersey such men as Mery Hoag, a young fellow who hit .370 last year; Charley Devens, a major league pitcher if ever there was one; Jack Saltzger, a second baseman for whom many managers would give an arm, and Hill and Rolfe, ball players who should be in the majors this very minute. . . . but does anybody remember away back in 1928 when the cry to "break the Yankees" sounded loudest? . . . after which the A's won three flags in a row?

WORK FOR THEIR EATS

Stuyvesant Peabody, the big Chicago coal man, has issued this edict to his stable of racing thoroughbreds: "Work if you would eat." . . . Mr. Peabody has nine 2-year-olds, six 3-year-olds and the veteran Marlie Flynn. . . . and he says that the horses who don't earn their keep will be sold down the river. . . . probably to the Cincinnati Reds.

GOVERNOR SURPRISES

As a turf event, the Preakness antedates the Kentucky Derby. . . . At a dinner given in 1865, Governor Bowie of Maryland, who also was president of the Maryland Jockey club, wowed the boys out of their chairs by announcing an offer of a purse of $15,000 to be added to a sweepstake of $1000 each for three-year-olds. . . . to be run at the autumn meeting at Pimlico in October, 1870. . . . it was to be called the Dinner Party stakes. . . . there were 30 subscribers to the stake, but only seven horses started.

The winner was Preakness, a bay colt by the immortal Lexington out of Bay Leaf, owned by M. H. Sanford. The distance was two miles, and the time, over a heavy track, was 3:47.1-2. The name was changed after the first year to the Dixie stake, and in 1888 was changed to the Preakness, after the first winner.

LOTS OF ENTRIES

In 1918 the Preakness was so popular that it was necessary to run the race in two divisions, with $15,000 added to each event. It was not until 1919 that the added money was increased to $25,000. That was the year Sir Barton galloped into history by winning both the Preakness and the Derby. The longest priced winner of a Preakness was Nellie Morse in 1924, and the payoff was $45.60 on each $2 ticket. Man o' War was a hot favorite, refunding $3.60 on each $2 ticket, or 90 cents to $1. But back in '30, Buddhiest paid 1 to 30, in a two-horse race.

ONCE RANKING TEAMS BATTLE TO OUIT CELLAR

Circumstances make strange bedfellows—in baseball as well as politics.

Along with Anaheim, Santa Ana and Olive have customarily battled it out for the National Night league championship. The Stars and Packers meet again at Olive tonight, but instead of fighting for first place they'll be struggling to emerge from last place, each at the expense of the other. Both teams lost three of their first four starts.

Olive will be favored, of course. The Packers always had an edge on the Stars—even when Santa Ana was at its best. Now, with the Stars hardly even close to their best, the odds lean Olive's way even more.

Last year, Olive took three out of four from Santa Ana. The first time they beat the Stars, the Packers stopped an 18-game winning streak, 6-1. Two victories by 3-1 margins followed. No pitcher has been able to still Santa Ana's hitters with the regularity of Olive's great Rudy Herman, the big Dutchman's change of pace driving the champions crazy in '32.

Olive Makes Slow Start

But like Santa Ana, Olive hasn't been able to get untracked this season. The Packers looked like the best team in night baseball during their exhibition season but when the league opened they proceeded to lose to Huntington Beach, 6-5; to Anaheim, 2-1, and to Westminster, 2-1. That these defeats were due to feeble hitting rather than lack of pitching is indicated by the scores.

Santa Ana lost three in succession to Anaheim, 8-2; to Westminster, 3-2, and to Huntington Beach, 14-13, before knocking off Whittier rather luckily, 4-3. Only at Huntington Beach were the Stars potent offensively.

Joe Cornelius, who has pitched fine ball all spring except at Huntington Beach, where he was Manager "Gey" Wilcox's nominee against Olive. Although the Packers have usually been too good for the Santa Anas, Cornelius has habitually hurled satisfactorily, his defeats being attributable to the fact that his colleagues couldn't get any runs for him against Herman.

Stars Stand Pat

Planning no change in his lineup, Wilcox will watch himself, Ed Daley, George Preble, Tommy Young and "Memphis" Hill around the infield, and Tom Denney, Rod Ballard and "Chub" Sears in the gardens.

"Hen" Thery, Santa Ana jaysee athlete, will be Herman's battery-mate. Two other Santa Anas, Ora Sands at second base and Darwin Scott at third, will see action in the infield along with First Baseman Bill Sweet and Shortstop Terry Griffith. Fritz Gunther, Ray Shell and "Chisel" Hatfield give the Packers a strong outfield.

With four clubs tied for first place and four for fifth, tonight's results will be watched with avid interest all over the circuit. The Westminster-Huntington Beach joust at Westminster drops one or the other out of first place. If "String" Whittier makes like pitching more than a mild workout on the Post's pasture. The encouraged Fullerton outfit, which unexpectedly defeated Anaheim Friday, draws a home game with Louis Neva and Company of Torrance.

Saint-Orange Tilt Set For September 23

Santa Ana high school's 1933 football schedule was virtually complete today, definite arrangements having been made whereby September 23 will be the date for the traditional Saint-Orange contest. It will be held here.

Only a game October 6 or 7 is lacking to fill the Santa Ana program. Covina, stormy petrel of the C.I.F., has been offered this date and probably will accept since it must arrange a free-lance schedule. Otherwise, Pomona or Cathedral will get the game.

The Saint schedule to date:

Sept. 23—Orange at Santa Ana.

Sept. 30—Santa Ana at Santa Barbara.

Oct. 7—Open.

Oct. 14—Santa Ana at Pasadena.

Oct. 21—San Diego at Santa Ana.

Nov. 4—Glendale at Santa Ana.

Nov. 18—Alhambra at Santa Ana.

Nov. 25—Santa Ana at Long Beach.

Saint officials have not decided whether they will schedule a game October 28, which is open on Coast league schedule.

JAYSEE TRACK SEASON TO END NEXT SATURDAY

Santa Ana, Riverside and Chaffey junior colleges today terminated their 1932 dual meet track schedules through an agreement reached by Coaches Bill Cook, Bill Neufeld and Ernie Payne.

Engagements which the Dons had with Riverside and Chaffey were automatically cancelled, Santa Ana forfeiting to Riverside but receiving a tie from Chaffey. With the Southern California jaysee meet scheduled at Occidental Saturday, the coaches figured the lack of time would prevent their running off the postponed dual meets.

Seven Dons qualified for the all-junior college affair at Occidental by placing in the Eastern division meet at San Bernardino. They are Captain Jim Daneri, javelin, discus and shot put; Fred Brooks, hurdles; Ray Furuta, high jump; Martin Lorenz and James Noe, pole vault; Charles McFarland and Jim Tawney, 880.

Diligent Coach "Chuck" Webber of the Santa Ana Saints figures from season records that his captain, Floyd Montgomery, led the team by a wide margin in total points for the 1932 season, completed last Saturday.

Montgomery made 105. Second was Sophomore Bill Hawkins, 77, and third Bruce Swishem, 67. Captain-elect Art Stranek, aged 61; Major Anderson, 42; Walt Hendrie, 40; Walt Krings, 36; Ernie Acker, 22; Rod Dresser, 17; and Bill Spurgeon, 6, were the other standings.

Coch Webber will take three Saints, two of them post-graduates, to the Taft Relays, a nocturnal meet, early in June. Ray Cartwright will run the 880, Lucian Wilson the hurdles. Art Stranek will go along to try for a new Saint record in the shot. Stranek got off a put of 51.6 during practice at the Coliseum Saturday.

NEW YORK, May 16.—(UP)—Only four notables failed to qualify yesterday as 98 professionals and 18 amateurs stroked their way into the remaining 116 places for the National Open golf championship in trials on 20 district courses.

The total field for the open tournament at Chicago, June 8-10, will number 151 players, but 33, including two amateurs, qualified automatically by finishing in a tie for 30th place or better in the 1932 open. Two others qualified in a district trial at Los Angeles Thursday, one pro and one amateur.

The quartet of prominent linksmen who failed to come through yesterday were "Chick" Evans, former amateur and open champion; Gene Homans, runner up to Bobby Jones for the '30 amateur title; Jack Hutchison, former British open champion.

YANK CRACKUP NEAR? GEHRIG, RUTH IN SLUMP

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 16.—(UP)—Are the old champion New York Yankees in a temporary slump or are they beginning to crack?

That's the big question confronting the baseball world today as the second interseasonal shift swings American league teams to the East and National circuit clubs to the West for the season's third period of play.

The Yanks may indicate the answer to that question during the next two weeks as they meet four Western invaders at their home stadium. They are only half-a-game from the top, but likewise only one-and-a-half games from fourth place. Their recent showing has been such that a move in either direction would occasion little surprise.

Rated in pre-season estimates as one of the most powerful outfits ever assembled, the Yanks started off in steam-roller fashion, winning seven games straight. But on their recent Western trip they won only four of nine starts. Last year they took 65 contests from westerners.

Unquestionably the Yanks appear much less impressive than they did a year ago, and are facing stiffer competition because Cleveland, Washington, Chicago, Detroit and Boston have improved. Joe McCarthy's heavy artillery was spiked in the West. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the home run twins, not only failed to connect for a four-bagger on the road, but neither hit close to .300. Babe got eight singles in 20 attempts, while Gehrig garnered eight hits in 36 tries. And Joe Sewell, of the photographic eye, is down around .200.

In addition, the pitching sagged. "Lefty" Gomez, ace of the staff, is not up to his usual form, and Van Atta appears to be slumping. George Pipgras, one of McCarthy's rotators, was sold last week to the Red Sox. However, Johnny Allen is reported back in shape again and slated to make his first start of the season this week.

The Yanks open a three-game series with Detroit today.

LATHROP 8-GRADERS HUMBLE FULLERTON

Julia Lathrop junior high school's eighth grade ball team today had the distinction of being the first invading club in six years to defeat the Fullerton Intermediates at Fullerton.

The Spartans did it yesterday, 5-2.

A Lathrop rally in the first inning netted four runs. Ortega singled, Patterson and Nitta walked. Niehaus singled, scoring Ortega and Patterson. McClure and Manos were safe on errors, Nitta scoring. McCullah's hit tallied Niehaus.

School Board Asks For Budget With $70,000 Cut

SAVING OF 17 PER CENT DUE IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, May 16.—Consideration of the recommendations of the tax committee of the Fullerton Union High school district, made at a joint meeting of taxpayers and the board of trustees yesterday afternoon, resulted in the school board asking the administration of the school to prepare a budget with a $70,000 cut, providing for a tax rate of not more than 25 cents for high school and 15 cents for junior college.

No mention was made of eliminating inter-scholastic athletics. At a previous meeting this was suggested and aroused strong protests.

Ask for Budget
The board held session following the joint meeting, and after due consideration, recommended that Principal Louis L. Plummer eliminate aviation and practical arts for boys, and change in any other way he thought advisable the course of study, stagger teacher time and arrange any way thought advisable the affairs of the school, but to return to the school board a budget allowing for the reduced expenditure.

This budget that is to meet the request of the tax payers is to be ready before July. In the meantime, with probable cuts that are hard to anticipate, and with the law such that teacher contracts must be let in some form May 15, the administration will deliver contracts with a minimum rate of pay to those teachers to be retained, and will set the pay, and adjust the teacher load and time at a later date, after more is known concerning the budget. This was determined at the board meeting.

15-25-Cent Rates
At the joint meeting of taxpayers and school board, R. M. Vanderhoof, chairman, and spokesman of the citizens' committee, representing all sections of the school district, presented the recommendation to the board, which included the one phase, the need of reducing the budget $70,000, allowing the tax rates of 15 and 25 cents.

This will mean a saving of 7 per cent as a whole, and the recommendation carried with it means of elimination, including elimination of courses of study in which pupil cost is unusually high; increase in teacher load; a lowered salary schedule and a combining of departments.

This committee includes Walter Muckelbauer, L. M. Gardner, Harry O. Easton, and Angus McAulay and the spokesman.

In making his appeal for consideration of the committee findings, Vanderhoof said he appreciated the assistance the school has given in all departments and said this is the only written report given, and that former meetings with the school board had been for the purpose of gathering information.

Must Aid Taxpayers

He said the needs of lowering taxes are evident, and said further that whereas it is true such reduction in school taxes will lower the rate for the taxpayer but five per cent, that committees are working on other phases, and are expecting all tax levying bodies to make similar reductions to meet the needs of the taxpayers.

"A real emergency exists," he said. "It isn't just cutting expenses of school; this is just a part of a general program of trying to care for the adverse condition under which business men are struggling."

Taxes are different today than at any other time in history. They are supposed to take a certain portion of income for government purposes. But at present, there is no income, and in all probability the school did business last year at a loss, and the individual has taken losses.

On question of L. B. Steward, member of the board, as to whether the committee has any suggestion on where elimination and cutting in courses can be placed, Vanderhoof replied they did not.

Repiles To Charge

Charge was made by S. James Tuffee, former member of the board, that no cuts will be made as long as those who will be influenced by the cut are directing the affairs. Louis Plummer replied in the board meeting he thought this unfair, since all his teachers have been willing to take deep cuts, going on part time schedules, that no member of the force need be eliminated entirely during this period of depression.

In calling for suggestions, J. A. Prizer, chairman of the session of both meetings, received many, including one by Tom Eadington, president of the chamber of commerce of Fullerton, asking that Albert Launer, member of the board of trustees, present means of cutting, since the tax committee has presented its methods.

A compilation of figures showed that the so-called fundamental subjects taught at school require least capital expenditure. The school board recommended the administration to consider cost of departments when making eliminations.

A recommendation of Stanley Chapman was to the effect that the board do as families have done, cut out all luxuries, which brought forth a united answer that a luxury for one is considered an essential for another.

To Back Trustees

After prolonged discussion, the tax paying committee agreed, with the large assembly of 50 citizens, to back the board in whatever policy it sees fit to follow in making the desired cut in affairs of school.

A warning was sounded by Vanderhoof near the close of the joint session that in Alabama, 85 per cent of the children are not in school because of a condition similar to that which California is rapidly approaching.

Plummer outlined his proposed cuts, in salaries, in eliminating teacher time, in reducing many overhead expenses, to an extent of $56,000, and was told by the board to continue that cut until the desired $70,000 is reached. The board did not instruct him where to cut, and adjourned after advising that salary contracts be let at a minimum wage yesterday, with an understanding that a definite wage be set after the budget compilation is approved.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

GIANTS
Knowing ones smile and look wise when you mention the new Glass bill amendment proposing to put J. P. Morgan under the Federal Reserve.

They insist Senator Glass must have thought up the brilliant idea one rainy afternoon when he had nothing else to do. That is not the case.

It came from no less a worthy opponent of Morgan than Mr. John D. Rockefeller Jr., himself, in person, not a picture. While all lips have been sealed, the inside evidence is conclusive.

There is no record to prove it but many will testify in whispers that the amendment was first offered in a private session of the Glass sub-committee by Winthrop W. Aldrich. He is president of Mr. Rockefeller's bank, the Chase National.

If there is anyone who thinks Mr. Aldrich would act in a matter like that without consulting Mr. Rockefeller, he does not know Mr. Aldrich or Mr. Rockefeller. They are two persons with a single thought—Mr. Rockefeller's.

The strangest part of the tale is that at the time (about two weeks ago) the committee yawned and was not interested in the proposition. Apparently Senator Glass thought that was too big a head for his horse. The committee filed the idea away and then went down to the White House to find out what Mr. Roosevelt thought about more pertinent aspects of bank reform.

They walked into a surprise. Apparently Mr. Aldrich had been there before them. When they asked Mr. Roosevelt for suggestions he pulled the Aldrich amendment out of a drawer in his desk. It would be unfair to quote him second handed but he said substantially he felt it was a good idea and would make a good amendment to the bill.

The sub-committee subsided. It went back to the hill and voted the amendment into the bill.

That is a fairly clear story but it has a cloudy aspect. One of them is the fact that everyone in the know here except Senator Glass understands the Glass bill will not be passed this session. That makes it look as if they polished up the horn of a dead cow. If the Glass bill does not pass neither will its Aldrich-Rockefeller-Roosevelt-Glass amendment.

This is not the first indication that Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Roosevelt enjoy sticking pins in Mr. Morgan.

Some months back Aldrich made a speech demanding a new deal in New York banking. Everyone knew he had his eye on Mr. Morgan when he spoke. It was shortly thereafter that Mr. Roosevelt called Chairman Fletcher of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, suggesting it would be a good time to investigate the private banking business, meaning Mr. Morgan.

Until then the Morgan house had not been exactly enthusiastic about Mr. Roosevelt's Administration. But without batting an eye it immediately went Democratic. Mr. Morgan issued a public statement approving the gold embargo. A more favorable tone toward the Administration was noticeable.

Later the financial grapevine report Mr. Morgan would stand for some form of federal control over his business.

Mr. Morgan will not care for the kind of control now suggested.

It would require him to give up his big checking account phase of the business if he wants to continue floating securities. Else he would be put under Federal Reserve restrictions somewhat the same as a member bank. That would interfere with the Morgan financial empire no matter which alternative he chooses.

The Senatorial investigation beginning May 23 will bring the situation to public attention. A new demand will be created for some such legislation.

As long as it is tied to the Glass bill Mr. Morgan will lose little sleep.

TAXES
There was a lot of buckpassing backstage on this new taxation to meet the public works bond issue.

Congressmen privately suggested that Mr. Roosevelt fix the means of raising the money. He politely invited them to do it. Finally they decided to go down to see him about it. He greeted them with that impenetrable smile. "Gentlemen," he said in effect, "that is your job and I would not deprive you of it." They went back to the hill worried.

The reason is that any kind of increased taxes is bad political medicine.

Mr. Roosevelt had intended all along to avoid increased taxation. The public works program was to have been financed through the R. F. C. Amortization was not thought of. It was to have been inflation pure and simple.

What changed his mind is his secret. The natural guess would be that the first inflationary program did not meet with the proper public response.

The result is clear. The new program means sound money.

CREDIT
There are other inner evidences that the Administration is veering around to credit inflation instead of currency inflation. A middle-of-the-road course now seems certain. However, he has the power to change it any time he chooses and you can get an even money bet here that the time will come within the next six months.

KINGFISH

Nobody lifted an eyelash when Huey Long strolled into the Senate chamber last week with a summer linen suit on. It was pouring rain outside. Everyone else wore a topcoat. Furthermore Huey was a full month ahead of the designated season.

A sensation would have been created if anyone else did that. With Huey they expect anything and are never surprised no matter what they get.

NOTES

Is a government secret but the money used to care for the bonus army here this time was taken from the fund appropriated to send them home last year. . . . The big argument used by the army men was that $25,000 had been appropriated by Congress for entertaining French war vets coming to the World Fair and they thought they should get some entertainment, too. . . . Inner dissatisfaction has been caused in the Interior Department by Secretary Ickes who has been doing some hiring and firing over the heads of Division Chiefs. . . . Bernard Baruch has been closely tied up with plans for this Industrial Control legislation. . . . His agent here is Hugh Johnson who has long been associated with him. . . . The most heartening business sign lately has been the increase in Department Store sales. . . . The Federal Reserve index placed them last month at 66 which means 66 per cent of the 1923-25 average. . . . You can doubt it if you will but the law firm of Dean Atcheson, new assistant Treasury Secretary, was counsel for Amtorg (Soviet trading company).

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

BANKS
Several of the big New York banks are about ready to kick over the traces.

After March 4th they were amazingly subdued and docile. They began to feel their oats once more when their lawyers made the Treasury Department back down on its ultimatum that they must bail out the Harriman. Self-assurance has now reached the point where they are preparing to declare forcibly their independence of the Government.

The particular bone of contention is the deposit insurance provision of the revised Glass banking bill. At least three of the most important banks are privately talking secession from the Federal Reserve System if this provision becomes law. Officers are painting lurid pictures for their directors to show how New York banks would have to hold the bag for the rest of the country.

They have statistics worked out to prove that New York would have to subscribe 28 per cent of the total insurance fund—which would be used for banks in trouble anywhere. They also claim it will cost them a billion dollars in deposits from out of town banks if they are forbidden to pay interest on demand accounts. They cannot see impairing their own interests to this extent for the sake of unifying the banking system. Those who contend the Administration is handing the country back to the big banks might change their minds if they credited the bankers' language.

The banks have even gone so far as to figure out how to maintain necessary Federal Reserve relations if they do secede. The idea would be to form a small new bank with minimum capitalization and very small deposits. This bank would be a member of the Reserve System. Since subscriptions to the insurance corporation will be rated on deposits, the small bank would make only a nominal contribution. At the same time it would provide Federal Reserve rediscounting facilities as required.

The situation has the possibilities of a grand and glorious showdown between New York and Washington. The banks may find that the Government packs a punch that they do not yet suspect—unless this is all hemlock for the Glass bill.

REBELLION

The incipient Wall Street rebellion against the Administration is not confined to banks. The investment fraternity is seething inwardly about the securities bill, which is described as "purely punitive." The general attitude is "they say they want new capital to revive business. Just let them try to get it from us." Fully half a dozen prominent investment houses are threatening to dissolve themselves, if the bill becomes law. So what?

Several corporations have already taken steps to circumvent the law as applied to directors.

Dummy boards will be set up to take official responsibility but the real orders will come from unofficial groups answerable to no one but themselves.

INFLATION

The Federal Reserve System

will start purchasing governments in the grand manner very shortly. Appointment of Eugene Black as Chairman and final passage of the inflation bill will set the stage for rapid action. All of the regional banks will team up this time and the machine will function with an effectiveness that was lacking a year ago.

It's a curious twist that some of the strongest opponents of inflation are clamoring loudest for the Federal Reserve to get busy.

They argue that the psychological price rise won't satisfy the currency boosters.

A BROWN & WILLIAMSON PRODUCT

Council Asks Edwards To Support City Gas Tax Bill

TAX REDUCTION REGARDED AS MAJOR ISSUE

Following reading of a letter from Senator Nelson T. Edwards in which he said he was afraid if he supported Bill No. 1172, gasoline tax measure sponsored by the cities, it would jeopardize the entire state highway program, the city council last night instructed City Attorney Clyde Downing to draft a resolution on the position of the city council and forward it to Senator Edwards.

Suggested by Councilman A. C. Hasenjaeger, the resolution states the position of the city council in its belief that reduction of taxes and expenses is of much greater importance at the present time than the addition of more miles to the state highway system.

The city council believes it would be better for the gasoline tax money to be used on city streets, relieving the tax burden in cities, than to add 6700 miles to the state highway system.

Edwards' Stand
In his letter Edwards said, "I would gladly support No. 1172 if I did not fear it would jeopardize the entire program of additions to the state highway system. This includes taking over of city streets by the highway commission which amounts to maintenance and future rebuilding of 200 miles of roads in our county. It is my earnest belief that this program will be far better for Orange county as a whole than the addition of one-fourth cent additional allotment to cities."

Downing was instructed also to send Senator Edwards a copy of the resolution dealing with the gasoline tax funds which was adopted recently at a meeting of mayors and representatives of Orange county cities.

This resolution requested the board of supervisors to make distribution of the gasoline and vehicle taxes to cities upon a mileage basis, giving the cities $215 a mile for the 500 miles of highway embraced within the city limits of the various cities.

Cities in Orange county have not received in the past an equitable distribution of the gasoline and vehicle taxes received by the county, the resolution stated.

The document declared that whereas during this period of business depression every effort is being made to reduce the burden carried by the taxpayer, if an equitable distribution of the gas taxes were made to the cities, taxes could be reduced.

Under this plan Santa Ana would receive about $28,015 annually from the funds. On a population basis, the city would receive approximately $43,000 according to City Engineer J. L. McBride.

The program which Edwards said he would support is the so-called auto club plan, which included the inclusion of an additional 6700 miles of county highways in the state highway system. Bill No. 1172 provides for a direct allocation of one-half cent to cities and has passed the assembly.

Under provisions of bill No. 1172, if the allocation is not reduced to one-fourth cent to cities, other Orange county cities would receive approximately the following amounts: Anaheim, $17,079; Brea, $4590; La Habra, $3305; Fullerton, $17,079; Placentia, $1236; Huntington Beach, $9182; Laguna Beach, $3672; Newport Beach, $3305; Orange, $14,692; San Clemente, $735; Seal Beach, $1469 and Tustin, $1652.

MONEY — By Willis Thornton

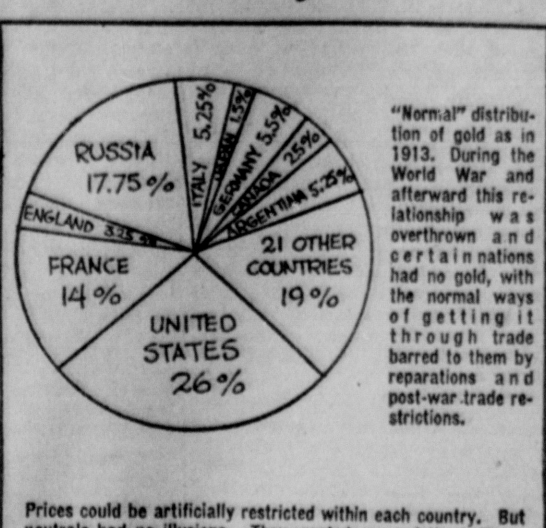

When the World War broke out, all the fighting nations intended to stay "on gold." They had great gold stocks, and were able to keep them by refusing to pay their own people gold for paper money.

But it takes money to run a war, and most of the big nations were soon printing it. All were borrowing it. Up to a point, as always, this was all right. It worked domestically, because their own people had to accept it.

Meanwhile millions in property values were being daily destroyed, millions of men were withdrawn from productive labor. The supply of commodities grew less and less, while more and more money was issued. Thus prices rose, or money fell in value, whichever way you choose to put it.

Prices could be artificially restricted within each country. But neutrals had no illusions. They wanted none of the belligerents' currencies, but demanded gold for their goods. Gradually Germany, and to a less extent other belligerents, lost their gold; its distribution became abnormal. (Next: Printing-Press Aftermath.)

COUNTY GETS PUBLICITY AT WORLDS FAIR

Much valuable publicity, featuring the scenic beauties, climatic advantages, and recreational facilities of Orange county and Southern California, and designed to attract the attention of prospective home-seekers and tourists, is a richly illustrated pamphlet published by the California State Commission for distribution to visitors at the International Exposition to be held in Chicago this summer.

Occupying a prominent place among the illustrations are a picture of the historic San Juan Capistrano mission, a view taken of the strand at Laguna Beach, and a scene of the Santa Ana canyon road.

In a section devoted to Orange county the following statement appears:

"Grandeur of mountains and canyons, rugged and beautiful shoreline, contrast with the fertile valleys wherein lies the wealth of Orange county. The large orange and walnut groves around Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton, extensive oil fields, communities on the shores of Newport bay, Mission San Juan Capistrano and Laguna Beach with its artist colony, are all of interest to the visitor."

Reprints of the handsome booklet will be made available to the general public through the California State Chamber of Commerce, which prepared the matter for the Exposition commission, will be available at a later date, it is announced.

ISSUES WARNING ON PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

County Assessor James Sleeper issued a warning today to the effect that the tax moratorium does not apply to personal property. Sleeper said that the moratorium applies only to real estate taxes and that owners of personal property not secured by real estate are advised that their taxes are now due and should be paid. All payments of personal property tax should be made to the office of the county assessor.

Sleeper also pointed out that many veterans, church organizations and householders have not yet filed their applications for tax exemptions. These applications, he said, must be filed annually. In order that these exemptions might be filed as soon as possible, Sleeper said that in cases where property owners are ill and cannot visit his office for the purpose of filing their exemptions he will send a deputy to the home to receive such filings. Friends of aged or disabled veterans are urged to see that applications for exemptions are made before it is too late.

POLICE OFFICER DISCHARGED ON RECOMMENDATION OF CHIEF; DRINKING CHARGE IN REPORT

Acting upon the recommendation of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard, which was approved by Police Commissioner E. G. Warner, Joe H. Ryan, well known Santa Ana police officer and former constable, was unconditionally discharged by the city council last night.

Authentic information which showed that Ryan had been drinking alcoholic liquor while serving as a policeman and many unexplained absences from duty were cited in the report as the reasons for the dismissal of the officer. The report stated that Ryan had been absent from duty on the police force for 40 days since January 1 of this year and that he has worked but one day of the present month.

During the time of his absence from duty he had not had a doctor in attendance and the only information he gave regarding his absences from duty was that he was not feeling well, Chief Howard said in his report.

Released immediately
Chief Howard also said that he had been told by authentic sources that Ryan had been drinking while on duty, even after having been informed that such conduct would not be tolerated. "From his actions," the report said, "it can only be understood that he does not appreciate his position and does not intend to take care of it so I recommend his discharge to take effect this date. I recommend also that his vacation be not allowed."

The council authorized his discharge effective May 2, allowing him pay for one day this month and taking off his vacation for the other time he has been absent.

Ryan was reinstated on the police force on July 1, 1932, after he had served one term of four years as constable here. Before that time he had served for many years on the Santa Ana police force. Police Commissioner E. G. Warner announced that the vacancy

ALL REQUEST PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Completing a season that has offered Santa Ana and the community a series of unusually fine concerts, the Cantando club, men's choral organization, will offer an all-request program tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Following the late winter concert at which it was announced that requests for songs which had been especially enjoyed on previous programs, would be considered in arranging this culminating program, the club was inundated with such requests. It was impossible to include all of the songs asked for, but those most in demand were included, and as a result tonight's audience will hear a succession of songs that have proven especially popular.

It has been customary for the club to feature an out of town guest artist at each concert in the past. Tonight there will be a change, and Santa Ana talent will be introduced. Local musicians of outstanding ability who will assist on the program include Earl Fraser and Dudley Page Harper in a two-piano number; Sally Lee Scales, soprano soloist, and the Musical Arts octet, Sally Lee Scales, Irma Huffman May, Marie Bishop, Holly Lash Visel, Edith Cornell, Leonora Tompkins, Cecile Fross Willis and Bease Nalle.

Leon Eckles will direct the Cantando club, and Miss Ruth Armstrong will accompany both Cantando club and Musical Arts Octet, of which she is director.

Pelican Pete Back On His Beat

Pelican Pete is on his way. He lingered here for only a day then W. H. Hamil, boss of the pound, sorry to see him dropping around, was glad to give him over instead, to the County Humane society head, Charles D. Ocain. Straightway he took Pelican Pete to this home at the sea.

Pelican Pete, as readers will recall, wandered in from some wild bird brawl, doctored on Adrian Marks' lawn, spent and dizzy, his friends all gone. Then Hamil called around and took him as a guest at the city pound.

Now Pete is free as the air is free, winging his way over land and sea, and Ocain and Hamil, in no wise vexed, draw deep breaths and say, "What next?"

UPWARD SWING OF REAL ESTATE

The policy of this Association is to cooperate and aid in every reasonable way borrowers who are having a struggle to meet their monthly payments. Real estate is now on the upward swing and home owners should receive the benefit of the rise in values. Past depressions seem to show that real estate rose to greater heights than ever before. Borrowers who can carry through can look hopefully to the future.

It logically follows that those who desire to own their own home will find this a good time to buy. Prices are below normal and buyers will receive the benefit of rising prices. For, just as real estate showed greater stability during the depression than many other types of security so will its upward trend show greater consistency, greater freedom from price fluctuations that effect stocks and bonds.

A quartet of hostesses, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Lewis Moulton, Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, and Miss Lida Crookshank, received members of chapter AB, P. E. The hostesses were assisted in serving by three daughters, Mrs. Glenn Mathis, (Charlotte Moulton), Miss Eleanor Crookshank, and Mrs. Felton Browning (Mildred Paul).

As it was guest day, those so complimented were invited into the artistic flower gardens, and each was given a pad and pencil and asked to name the various blooms and shrubs, while members held a brief business meeting. Mrs. Robert Spurgeon and Mrs. Frederick Elley were each presented with a potted plant at the end of the contest, for having the most accurate lists.

Gift Shower Plans
Of Co-Hostesses

Joining as hostesses at a charmingly appointed luncheon of Saturday in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, Mrs. J. William Taylor Jr. and Mrs. E. Nell Stanley complimented Miss Laura Taylor, whose marriage to Carl Steiner of Kern, Calif., will be an event of late June.

Yellow was the dominant color of decorative appointments prevailing at the luncheon hour, glowing yellow rosebuds and slender candles combining to give an artistic effect to the tables. Immediately after luncheon, the hostesses introduced the showery nature of the party, by presenting to Miss Taylor the assortment of beautiful gifts which her friends had selected for her.

Bridge followed, the artistic yellow cards which had served to designate places at the table, receiving additional service as score cards. Mrs. Robert Harlan of Los Angeles, made the highest score of the afternoon and was rewarded with a pretty prize.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Stanley received as guests in addition to their honoree, Miss Laura Taylor, Mrs. Harold Colling and Mrs. Robert Harlan of Los Angeles; Mrs. Severin Schulte, Mrs. Virginia Russell Weeks, Mrs. Gunning Butler, Mrs. Norman McNis and Mrs. George Paul of Santa Ana and vicinity, Mrs. Jack Haddon of Whittier, and Miss Helen Beshears, who is soon to wed Kemper Taylor.

Announcement Party
Announcement of the engagement of Miss Taylor and Mr. Steiner was made recently at a delightful party given by Miss Taylor for Miss Helen Beshears, shortly after the betrothal of Miss Beshears and Kemper Taylor had been disclosed.

The party was given in the J. W. Taylor home, 418 West Santa Clara avenue, and called together a group of Occidental collegemates of the hostess, giving them opportunity to meet her future sister-in-law.

The unique decorative scheme, the luncheon table boasting a centerpiece of pink roses nodding from a poke bonnet.

Individual nut cups carried the idea still further, and one of its most artistic applications was seen in the place cards. Quantities of roses and sweet peas stressed the prevailing pink theme, the same color appearing in the luncheon menu wherever possible.

The little bonnets of the place cards concealed more than pretty girl faces, for it was speedily discovered that each held a tiny card bearing the names of Miss Taylor and Mr. Steiner and the date of June 21. This selection of a wedding date has definite importance, for it will serve to celebrate not only the wedding of Miss Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor, but that of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Taylor Jr.

Miss Laura Taylor, completing Santa Ana schools, graduated from Occidental college and then took her master's degree at Columbia University. For the past two years she has been a member of the Fullerton Union High school staff, teaching in the English and drama department. Mr. Steiner is engaged in ranching at Kern, near Fresno, and following their marriage the young couple will establish a ranch home there.

Sigma Theta Sorority Presents Informal Dancing Party

Palmside Tavern at Corona del Mar was selected by Sigma Theta sorority members as the scene of a gaily informal dancing party at which they entertained Saturday night. While dancing was of course the chief feature, there was added attraction of the various games made available by Tavern resources, so from time to time merry groups formed for billiards, ping-pong and other amusements.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were available throughout the evening. Music for dancing was furnished by Walter Caruthers, with electrically transcribed phonograph records.

Those in the party were the Misses Frances Bowman, Marjorie Burns, Georgiana Irvin, Rachel Lamb, Marguerite Lentz, Elma Meride, Bernice Ruthburn, Doris Rohrbach, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup, Loretta Spangler, Helen Stauffer, Frances Vieira, Ruth Owens, Martha Wallingford and Betty Wiswall, Santa Ana; Eleanor Yount, Los Angeles, and Jean Hezmalaloh, of Fullerton. ## Ebells Section Enjoys Picnic Facilities of Anaheim Park

Rounding out a club year of varied activities, members of Ebells' Fourth Household Economics section assembled Friday of the past week for a picnic outing in Anaheim City park as a finale to their monthly meetings.

There was a brief time devoted to business, with election assuming special importance. Mrs. A. Thorndike was selected for the responsible post of president, succeeding Mrs. Herbert Krahling who has conducted section affairs so capably for the past year. Mrs. William Umberham was re-elected secretary, and Mrs. Walter Hickey, treasurer.

Business matters concluded, section members were free to turn their attention to the park, which they found especially beautiful and interesting at this season. They enjoyed particularly the cactus gardens, which were in full bloom.

Luncheon was a pleasant interval, distinguished by a variety of inviting dishes since each member had contributed one of her choicest recipes. All section members but two were present, and entertained as their special guest Mrs. Paul Bailey, Ebells' president.

Athletic Group Enjoys
Luncheon-Matinee

A closing pleasure of the school year just ending was the informal luncheon and theater party in which members of the Girls' Athletic club of Frances Willard Junior high school participated on Saturday afternoon in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe.

Many flowers graced the tables while clever place cards were among other luncheon appointments.

A brief entertainment was presented under the direction of Miss Naomi Sands, with Miss Eileen Reid, G. A. C. president, in the role of toastmistress. After the luncheon the girls attended a showing of "The Great Jasper" at the Fox West Coast theater.

Party arrangements were directed by Naomi Sands, Lorraine Turk, Eileen Reid, Jessie Fairies, Beth Emlison, Jean Courtney and Janice Marguerat. Chaperones were Miss Dorothy Broadway, faculty advisor, and Mrs. A. Turk.

Members present were the Misses Elizabeth Bittle, Delores Brooks, Grace Berge, Lussanna Chavez, Jean Courtney, Mabelle Essinger, Beth Emlison, Jessie Fairies, Evelyn Fraser, Dorothy Flaherty, Margaret Garrett, Patricia Groves, Kay Johnston, Jane King, Helen Lowe, Thelma Marks, Victoria Marr, Janice Marguerat, Agnes McDougal, Jean McBurney, Jean McClay, Roberta McKnight, Dorothy Olson, Mary Perkins, Betty Neff, Eileen Reid, Hazel Schwarm, Elinor Straub, Lola Straub, Lorraine Sweet, Evelyn Snodgrass, Naomi Sands, Mildred Tucker and Nettie Wright.

ANN MEREDITH'S
MIXING
EAT AND GROW SLIM
Luncheon
Large baked potato with 1 tablespoon butter
2 medium tomatoes, oven-broiled
Glass of buttermilk
Calory total, 240
If you want to bake potatoes in a hurry, just parboil them ten minutes, drain and dry, rub with fat and slip them into a "baked potato oven" and they'll be ready in 20 minutes.

Of course it would be the height of foolishness to use the oven for just one potato, but if you are getting luncheon for the family give them baked eggs along with the baked potato and broiled tomatoes, and they'll be satisfied. The last fifteen minutes the oven is on will be enough for the eggs. Butter a shallow dish, break in as many eggs as you wish, dust with salt and pepper and pour around them enough top milk to barely cover the eggs. Serve from the dish at table.

Oven-Broiled Tomatoes
2 to a serving
1 tablespoon minced onion and green pepper, mixed
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons grated cheese and crumbs, mixed
Salt and pepper.
Nip out the stem end, cut off a thin slice and fill the little hole with onion mixture, sprinkle with cheese and crumbs, dot with butter and bake in a quick oven about 20 minutes.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cheese Hollandaise Sauce
3 cups milk
3 level tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in
1-2 cup water
1-4 pound butter or butter substitute
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1-3 teaspoon cayenne
1 teaspoon salt
Juice of 2 or 3 lemons
2 cups grated nippy cheese
I'm proud to offer this sauce to my readers; it is such a perfect sauce to serve with fish or with asparagus, and left-over sauce can be reheated without danger of curdling. I make a quantity and keep it in the refrigerator, sometimes for two weeks.

If you wish to re-heat the sauce, put 1-2 cup of thin cream in a double boiler, bring to a boil, add the sauce, turn off the heat and stir until the cream is well mixed and the sauce mildly hot.

Bring the milk to a boil in a double boiler, stir in the dissolved cornstarch and egg yolks (whipped together) and cook until thick and smooth. Mix all of the seasonings with a little soft butter and add, keep whipping until mixed, then add balance of butter, bit by bit, until all is in, the whipping proceeding all the time. The cheese comes next. Dribble it in, stirring constantly until melted. Take the saucepan off the fire, add lemon juice and whip briskly for a moment. Keep warm over hot water, but off the fire.

This rich sauce has a calory value of approximately 35 per tablespoonful. Tissue building and energy foods make this sauce an important addition to the vegetable plate, or, with such starchy foods as spaghetti.

Wednesday: Spanish Sauce for omelette filling or to serve with chops or roast meats will be the recipe for the day.

ANN MEREDITH.

HISTORY OF MISSIONS TOLD BY MGR. ST. JOHN O'SULLIVAN; MEN'S CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

ORANGE, May 16.—The colorful story of the California missions was related last night at a meeting of the Men's club. Officers for next year were elected, Alfred Higgins being re-elected for president. Members of the executive board are M. N. Fishback, Jack Clayton and Carl Glassbrunner. W. C. Armstrong was elected for the fifth consecutive time to fill the office of secretary.

The meeting marked the last one for the year. Appreciation was expressed to the press, to the speakers, to the various committees, and to the women of the Trinity guild for co-operation the past year.

Mr. St. John O'Sullivan told of the 22 years of effort he had spent in rebuilding San Juan Capistrano mission. His work is yet unfinished, he said, as the whole west side needs rebuilding and 21 arches must be constructed. There is approximately $1000 worth of work left to be done, he stated.

The speaker explained how and why the missions were founded. The two main reasons were to keep the invading Russians out of Spain's domain, and to civilize and organize the Indians of this region, he said. Spain had no claim on this land prior to the founding of the missions and presidios. The task of converting the natives was rendered even more difficult by the variety of languages spoken by them. An Indian could not understand one of his fellow beings who lived more than thirty miles away, he explained. Father Serra was made father president by the king, and sent up the coast in one of two land parties to find Monterey bay. Two expeditions were made by ships. Instead of finding Monterey Bay, San Francisco bay was discovered, he continued.

Missions were established at about a day's journey apart, the longest jump being between San Juan Capistrano and San Gabriel missions, a distance of about 50 miles, he related.

Dr. V. A. Rossiter arranged for the address. Interesting moving pictures were shown of the gala pioneer May day celebration by George Peterkin. The pictures were the property of Dr. Arthur Domann.

"Don't let that fine goat get away!" yelled Duncy. "Maybe he will play. He ought to feel real friendly, since we freed him from the trap."

"Gee, Scouty, use your coil of rope. Then you can lasso him, I hope. I'll try to chase him right by you, by waving my dunce cap."

"Now, wait a minute," Scouty said. "Why don't you ever use your head? Right now the goat is standing still. Your cap would make him run."

"Just pet him! Then, I'll bet that he will act as tame as tame can be. One more in our fine party will mean just that much more fun!"

Wee Windy shouted, "I have pluck enough to pet him. Wish me luck!" The other Tynmies watched him as he walked up to the goat.

"Nice goat! Please don't run away, 'cause we would like to have you stay," said Windy. Then he gently stroked the strange beast's fuzzy coat.

"Ah, ha! I told you," Scouty said. "He is not wild, but tame, instead. 'We'll let him live right with us. He will be a dandy pet.'"

They frolicked with the goat a while and then fair Doty, with a smile, said, "I'm getting rather tired. Some sleep I ought to get."

"Oh, gee, don't flop down on the ground," said Copy. "We will look around and find some brush with which to build a hut up in a tree."

"We'll make it big enough for two. Then we will keep watch over you." In just about a minute Goldy said, "Gee, that appeals to me."

It didn't take them very long to fix a place that seemed real strong. The little girls climbed into it, agreeing 'twas all right.

"Well, flop right down and snooze away. Night soon will take the place of day," said Scouty. "We will be right near at hand all through the night." (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

Council Adopts Fireworks, Open Muffler Ordinances

H. L. SHERMAN RETIRES FROM LIBRARY BOARD

NEWPORT BEACH, May 16.—Two new ordinances, one permitting the sale of "safe and sane" fireworks within the city limits, and the other permitting open muffler boat racing on Newport bay under council regulations, received their final reading and passage by the city council last night. The boat racing proposition was voted on at an election held in the city on May 5, the result being a two to one vote in favor of the open muffler races.

The resignation of H. L. Sherman as a member of the city library board was read and accepted, the city clerk being authorized to notify Mr. Sherman of the board's action and expressing the members' regrets.

H. E. Ruggies presented a claim of $35.55 for damages sustained to his boat from a marker pipe setting in the bottom of the bay, which he claimed was improperly protected. Ruggies had run into the marker pipe with his boat, tearing a hole in it and causing it to sink. The matter was referred to the city attorney and the harbor master for report at the next council meeting.

A new agreement was entered into with the Fishermen's Protective association whereby the association has the exclusive right to operate charter fishing boats from designated city piers, with the operation of bait boat and taxi to and from barges open to others. The city attorney was instructed to correspond with the state gas and oil bureau requesting permission to abandon and cap certain old oil wells in the west end of town.

WATER MEASURE OUTLINED FOR YORBA LINDA CENTER

PLACENTIA, May 16.—A. W. Rutan, Santa Ana attorney, said the water question in Orange county, in Southern California, in fact, is replacement, and not saving, and that the best replacement is save what now goes to waste, at a meeting of Yorba Linda Farm center, last night. He first announced that Senate Bill 1201, has passed in Sacramento. This bill provides power of adjudication, he said, and provides flood control and conservation methods and means, and also ways to buy water from without the basin.

The first move under the new bill, which will be in effect in five months, if the supervisors call an election within 60 days, which they may, likely will be to adjudicate water rights along the Santa Ana river, he said.

Holmes Bishop, chairman of the Farm Bureau Citrus department, said the future of the citrus industry is bright, and suggested that the new pro-rate agreement between citrus growers is one of the big things in the industry.

Bishop expressed himself against the Randall bill, now pending in legislature, which provides for forced proration and creates a commission of eight men, to be paid $5000 each a year. The bill, which is before the Senate in July, provides that a cent a box be placed on citrus with 75 cents per box for growers not shipping by the prorate plan. A cent a box is to be charged to defray expenses of the commission.

Randall said he believes people should not be forced to prorate their fruit and offered to creation of a commission of highly paid men.

Preceding the meeting, women of the Friends church served dinner. A musical program was provided by Mrs. B. M. Selover, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Carolyn Pickering.

Announcement was made of a farm bureau picnic at Irvine park June 2.

TUSTIN DISINCORPORATION PETITION DECLARED FAULTY

TUSTIN, May 16.—The second disincorporation petition, which came up for consideration at last night's regular meeting of the city council, was pronounced illegal by city attorney, Morris A. Cain.

The petition was presented to the city clerk, Phillip Brooks, several weeks ago by the petitioners. Brooks stated that checking of the petition revealed four improper signatures, two being names of people not registered while in another instance, it was evident that one party had signed for both husband and wife. The clerk also found in his investigation that the year "1933" was not indicated following 19 signatures. The names had the month and day following them, but the signers had neglected to put down the year.

Since the year 1933 was included in all the dates preceding, lively discussion followed between the city attorney and various voters present as to why it could not be understood the year 1933 was with the council and a date decided upon for the election.

Mayor William Huntley stated that the council was anxious to hold a disincorporation election, but did not wish to do so unless they knew the petition was legal. He pointed out the possibility of the losing side in the proposed election, calling the election illegal if the petition did not meet all requirements. C. A. Vance, president of the First National bank of Tustin, stated that he was anxious to see an election.

Attorney Cain stated that it would be cheaper to hold the disincorporation election at one separate election and not with the state or any other election.

Since the petition had only been presented to the clerk for certification and had not yet been formally presented to the council, Brooks gave the document to one of the petitioners present so that the paper might be correctly made out and returned to him.

The next meeting of the council will be June 5 at which time it is anticipated that the petition legally made out, will be filed with the council and a date decided upon for the election.

Salaries Of Teachers To Be Set Soon

PLACENTIA, May 16.—To meet the requirement of the law in letting teachers know whether they are re-employed by May 15, Placentia school board yesterday issued tentative contracts that included a statement that those employed would receive a reduction up to 20 per cent.

In trying to meet the anticipated reduction in school money, the board issued to married teachers whose husbands have incomes, half time contracts, and dismissed two probationary teachers.

Next meeting of the board will be held on the call of the president, LeRoy Lyon, within 10 days for budget consideration.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES NATIONS ON INTERNATIONAL CRISIS

The nations have been, in the last few hours, moving toward an international crisis. Fundamentally, it is due to the Allied nations failing to carry out their compact, as we pointed out in an editorial yesterday.

The President, in his message today, called attention to the peace conference which has been in session over these months, and yet nothing has come from it but talk. Germany will probably take the position that if this part of the agreement in the Versailles Treaty is not binding, then no part of it is binding. If it was not the intent of the Allies to disarm, they should not have agreed to it.

During the months of controversy at Geneva, and in fact during the whole period leading up to the peace conference, the programs as proposed by the various nations have been nearly all so formulated as to be in the interest of the nation that formulated them, and putting others in a disadvantageous position. Russia and Germany, however, have proposed complete disarmament.

The President today declares that there is no defensive protection against the modern machinery of offense. He says, therefore, that this offensive machinery must be eliminated, when the defensive works of the frontiers will become immediately powerful enough to protect. He lays the responsibility for trouble upon any nation that first moves its army across the frontier. But laying the responsibility for beginning warfare will not greatly help after the conflagration is actually started.

Hitler, by his internal actions, has forfeited the good will of most of the people of the world, but he holds the whip-hand just at the moment, in that he can use the flagrant failure of the Allies to perform their part of the contract to arouse and unite the German people to any lengths. Indeed, they are already aroused, and this will result in uniting them.

War Minister Von Blomberg of Germany made a statement today which suggests possibly the line of procedure that Germany will follow. Among other things, he said:

Wednesday, when he faces the Reichstag, Chancellor Hitler will reiterate Germany's demands, and will show, step by step, how Germany's honest intentions have been wrecked by the French, time and again.

He will make clear that Germany is disarmed, and that if the disarmament conference fails, it is not Germany's fault.

Furthermore, the period of ultimatums is over, and the Chancellor will tell the nations that Germany is willing to negotiate on disarmament, but will never accept dictated terms.

The President emphasizes in his message today that the nations must do what they have already affirmed that they will do. It may be that this will be the means of compelling disarmament. If it shall be accomplished, even this way, it is better than if it were not accomplished at all.

Nothing can possibly be gained by a hostile attitude which could be taken by any of the nations of the group of the United States, Great Britain, Germany and France. Our economic and cultural background and aims are the same. There are no fundamental differences in the great purposes of the nations. Nothing could possibly be gained by conflict. The general welfare of every one of these nations demands greater unity rather than any division. Can the leaders not see it?

PATERNALISM

The legislature granted to the cities one-fourth of a cent a gallon on the gas tax, to be used, however, not by the cities, but under the direction of the Highway department of the state. Not only will they determine first the through streets on which it will be used, but will actually come in and sit in with the cities to determine what major streets will use the other part of the fund. This is not done with the counties. Why should it be done with the cities?

It seems strange that our legislators are not able to protect our interests to a greater degree in this respect. Sixty-seven hundred miles of secondary road, however, were added to the state's system from the counties. It would be better if that portion of the money would be turned over to the counties and the cities, and they be given discretion in the use of the fund, for as it is now the state has really more money than it can wisely use for highways, even at this time of stress, while every other department of our government is in great distress.

After all, as long as the money comes out of the pockets of the people, why should the money not be used on behalf of "first things first," instead of insisting that millions unnecessarily should be put into highways simply because we happen to raise it through one particular form of tax?

We wonder if some of the interests that handle material that goes into the building of highways have used any influence in the legislature to get things their way?

A RATHER BELATED TRIBUTE

Thirty-five years ago the nation was thrilled by the daring adventure of a young naval ensign named Richmond P. Hobson who risked his life in an attempt to block the narrow entrance of the harbor of Santiago-de-Cuba by sinking a collier in the narrow channel. If it had been successful, the Spanish fleet would have been bottled up in the harbor and rendered ineffective against our naval squadrons in the region.

That heroic attempt, admired even by the enemy which took the young ensign a prisoner of war, made a hero of the young man. At the close of the war with Spain, the young man was liberated. Everywhere he was dined and wined. Sentimental girls gathered about him, and one of them rushed up and kissed him. That hurled the young hero from his pedestal, and the people lost their admiration for him.

During the intervening years, Captain Hobson has been an exemplary public citizen. He has served a term in Congress. He has been devoted in the prohibition cause, and is now connected with a society organized to restrict the trade in narcotic drugs. Little has been heard of him recently until the other day when the news from Washington reported that President Roosevelt had pinned on him the Congressional Medal of Honor for a heroic deed performed a generation ago. We have heard much about the ingratitude of republics. But sometimes belated gratitude finds expression. We do not know whether to congratulate most the Government or Captain Hobson, but we are pleased to see heroic service finally recognized.

THE PRIDE OF AN ENGLISHMAN

Sir Winston Churchill made an address on St. George's Day in London two weeks ago, an extract of which has come to us through the Manchester Guardian. The Englishman, apart from the Welsh, and the Scotch, all of whom are known as Britishers, takes great pride in singling himself out occasionally from the rest of his imperial countrymen. On St. George's Day, when the patron saint of England is honored, the Englishman takes the opportunity to tell the world why he is proud of being an Englishman rather than a citizen of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Those who are familiar with English history do not find it difficult to justify this one day of boasting, especially when the list of England's virtues are summed up, as Winston Churchill did it in that address. We Americans might be proud too if we could say the same things at present for ourselves and our institutions. Here is the portion of the address alluded to:

Here in England it would hardly occur to anyone that the banks would close their doors against their depositors. Here no one questions the fairness of the courts of law and justice. Here no one thinks of persecuting a man on account of his religion or his race. Here everyone (except the criminals) looks upon the policeman as the friend and servant of the public. Here we provide for poverty and misfortune with more compassion (in spite of all our burdens) than any other country. Here we assert the rights of the citizen against the state, or criticize the government of the day without falling in our duty to the Crown, or in our loyalty to the King. This is the night when we may speak of ourselves as Englishmen.

Vale, Leviathan!

Christian Science Monitor

The withdrawal of the United States liner Leviathan from transatlantic service is no reflection on her seaworthiness. Rather is it the very built her name symbolizes that has driven the flagship of the American merchant marine into retirement at Solomon's Island.

Although she came under the United States flag as the German prize of war Vaterland, America manifested a keen pride in the reliable but expensive liner. The whole country held its breath the day her mighty keel scraped on Robbins Reef in New York harbor and she was held fast in the mud like a stranded whale until a relenting tide floated her free unscathed. She helped make reputations for Hartley, Cunningham and Randall, former commodores, and Fried, Stedman and other good navigators who have peered over her spotless bridge dodger.

The Germans retained an affection for their former ocean queen. When she returned to her homeland a year ago in the renewal of service disrupted by the war, all Bremerhaven turned out to greet the great ship as her familiar form drifted into Weser once more.

Something of the feeling expressed in Longfellow's verse must have inspired the builders of this famous ship:

Build me straight, O worthy master!
Stanch and strong, a goodly vessel,
That shall laugh at all disaster,
And with wave and whirlwind wrestle!

"Stanch and strong, a goodly vessel!" That was the Leviathan of the free-spending 'twenties. But Blohm & Voss of Hamburg must have done their work too well. The ship whose towering bulk has shaken off the brunt of many a mid-winter Atlantic gale with a duck's proverbial immunity to rain, could not weather the economic whirlwind.

From a sentimental viewpoint, many voyagers will regret to see the Leviathan depart for America's port of cast-off ships. Her withdrawal from the Atlantic trade after ten years of service is a timely though costly reminder that there is a practical limit to size and speed in ocean liners.

Gold in Sea Water

New York Sun

Though the proportion of gold in sea water has never been as great as the proportion of the gullible among speculators, that lesser probably could not be repeated too often. A distinguished visitor, Dr. Otto Hahn, director of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Chemistry, in a recent lecture at Cornell said:

"When the World War was over and the victors imposed upon Germany the task of finding enormous sums for 'reparations,' Fritz Haber proposed to himself the most interesting scheme of extracting gold from the inexhaustible reservoir of the oceans. Previous determinations by other investigators had placed the gold content of sea water at five to ten milligrams of gold per metric ton (one thousand kilograms) of water. The gold ores of South Africa contain about one thousand times more gold per ton than does sea water, but the greater ease of working water, as compared with rigid rock, made the task seem very promising. If it succeeded it would open up an inexhaustible source of gold, for veridical had estimated that, with a richness of six milligrams of gold per ton of water, the total content of all the seas amounted to eight billions of tons of gold.

"The plan itself—to secure gold in this way—did not succeed and could not succeed, instead of the assumed gold content of five to ten milligrams per ton, Haber's numerous experiments showed only about one thousandth as much."

Though Dr. Hahn was primarily interested in the profit to pure science which resulted from Haber's experiments, pure science might benefit gullible souls of the sort who have invested in companies to extract gold from sea water. There is gold in sea water, but the unscrupulous promoter has always found it easier to extricate himself from the unwary than precious metal from the ocean. Pure science, in this instance, has made a fraud of the past less of a probability in the future.

THE PILFERED COD

From Winthrop Beach to Bunker Hill,
From Cambridge to Revere,
The voice of happiness was still,
One heard no note of cheer.
A pallor whitened every face,
All eyes were red and swollen;
A dreadful crime had taken place—
The Codfish had been stolen.

The Fish that symbolized a trade
Which, in the days of old,
The shores of old New England made
A strand of shining gold,
The Fish that millions came to view
With ardent admiration,
The Fish whose fame has echoed to
The Corners of the nation.

When first I set my roving feet
Upon Bostonian sod,
I hastened blithely up the street
To view the Sacred Cod,
And in its dull and glassy eyes,
The instant of our meeting,
I fancied that I saw arise
A glance of cordial greeting.

Today there is an end of grief;
No more the skies loom black;
A chastened and repentant thief
Has brought the Codfish back.
No stygian gloom now broods around,
No heart with woe is freighted;
Bostonian pulses leap and bound—
The Cod is reinstated.

PARAGRAPHS

There are many cures for trouble, but careful nursing isn't one of them.
The average paragrapher is industrious. He works hard from sunrise to sunset.

Rich men's sons don't always flop. They sometimes overcome the obstacle of having no obstacles and succeed in spite of their advantages.

Hint to wives: Husbands are like eggs. If you keep them in hot water too long they're likely to become hardboiled.
It's a wonder the reformers haven't tried to restore prosperity by having the depression abolished by law.

In the next big parley over disarmament England will probably demand that American golfers be reduced to two-thirds their present strength.

We'd all be sharks like Bobby Jones if a golf swing were half as simple as it makes you feel.
A woman is supposed to be a vain creature that likes to be looked at and admired, but perhaps you've noticed who does most of the marching in parades.

This depression is actually a boon to the professional loafer because it gives him an air-tight alibi for not working.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

HOBBLING PRIVATE INITIATIVE

The fate of private initiative is definitely at stake in the whirl of affairs at Washington today.

Rugged individualism is on the run.

What is the problem that this puts to the sincere friends of private initiative?

I count myself among the friends of private initiative.

I am not at all enamored of the prospect of having my own and the nation's life ordered about by bureaucrats.

In the long run I doubt the wisdom of having political persons dictate in detail the plans and procedures of American industry.

But I am, I hope, a realist.

And I set it down as a deep conviction that sustained study of the passing show has forced upon me that if the freedom of private initiative dies, its friends will be responsible for its death.

There is no dominant body of socialistic or communistic thought in the United States.

Franklin D. Roosevelt does not want to be dictator of the United States.

But neither a President nor a Congress will stand idly by and see a civilization sink just in order to preserve the dogma of private initiative.

It lies, I think, with the business, financial, and industrial leadership of the United States to say just how far infringements on private initiative shall go.

If the leadership of American industry will pool its varied genius in an effort to work out and put into effect wage, hour, and price policies that will spread the normal national income widely enough to provide the tolling millions with money and leisure enough to make them a steady market for the maximum output of our machine economy, neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Congress will spend much time agitating for any dictatorship of American industry.

If the bankers will produce a thoroughly dependable banking system that serves instead of sinks the enterprises of the nation, nobody will lie awake nights to devise halters and hobblers for the banking system.

Nearly everybody in America prefers private initiative—if it will only produce the goods.

HOME INSTRUCTION

Home is the first school and mother the first and most influential teacher. The first six years or so of a child's life is a period of rapid growth and development. The child learns at a marvelous rate and his knowledge covers wide fields. Never again in his life is he going to learn as readily, as speedily, and as thoroughly.

It is wise then, to think a little about the sort of instruction a child receives from his mother, or father. Manners and habits of daily routine, religious instruction, general facts about coming and going and getting along with other people form the bulk of the curriculum. The child's senses are trained and developed. His body should have first care and health and play are foremost in their claims. So far, good. The present day child with all his handicaps is well cared for.

Some parents go a step further in instruction. They want to prepare their children for school. Such ambitious mothers think that by getting ahead of the job they will give their children a better start and a higher place in school. Their scheme does not seem to work well.

In the first place few mothers are trained teachers and the few that are do not seem to succeed as well with their infant pupils as they would wish. The heart of the matter is that such instruction has no place in the home. A child of five, as a usual thing, is not ready for reading and arithmetic. They come later.

We find that we can teach reading better to the usual six year old than we can to the usual five year old. It is more economical every way to wait for the teacher. She knows how, the child wants to learn, his mind is set and ready for learning.

I felt so sorry for a little chap of five whose mother was ambitious in this direction. Every evening, and there is no worse time for teaching reading to a five year old, she sits down to teach Sonny to read. She wants him to spell to read. She wants him to spell to read. She wants him to spell to read. She wants him to spell to read.

He gets as soon as he is told. His mind is not ready for such work.

Nor can he learn his tables. He will say that three and one make ten right after his mother tells him that it makes four. Then his mother slaps him in the mouth. His mouth made the mistake so his mouth is slapped. Imagine.

A trained teacher would never make such a mistake. Nobody, mother or anybody else, should try to teach a child unless he knows what he is about. This sort of thing will make it impossible for the child ever to learn normally. He will grow a hatred against school and lessons and teachers that will get between him and his education to his great hurt.

There is no hurry. The shortest way for school success is along the rhythm of growth. Follow the growth of the child and you can't go wrong. Go ahead of it, get behind it, cut across it, and you set the stage for certain failure.
